

'Flagrant Vandalism'...North Dutchess Problem

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK
Dozens of townspeople from Rhinebeck attended the Rhinebeck Town Board's Wednesday night meeting to protest flagrant vandalism in their Hudson River community and ask for special police protection.

The "last straw" in a list of complaints was the closing of Philip H. Stahl's general store in Rhinebeck this week after 25 years of business. Stahl gave as the reason the repeated vandalism his store had suffered, including broken windows and skylights.

spoken on the numerous aggravations they alleged they had suffered during the past few years, with this year culminating the harassment by a loose-knit band of teenagers. A spokesman for the Rhinebeck Boat Club said that a small building had been purchased for $1,250, new windows were installed, and a junior boat club was formed. When the junior club proved unworkable because of fights it was disbanded. Shortly afterward all the windows in the boat-house were broken.

Last Saturday, two youngsters were seen leaving the scene of the building after it was reportedly set on fire and partially destroyed. Rhinebeck dwellers said that the group is led by two or three teenage "rabble rousers" who motivate another six or eight into mischief. Repeated attempts to have something done has thus far ended in staunch declarations of innocence by their parents and no punitive action has been taken, according to the citizens.

One resident claimed that when his wife asked the teenagers to hold down the noise one night in front of his dwelling, they hurled rocks and fire-crackers through his windows. He said his wife called the state police at Rhinebeck, who declined to respond.

An elderly woman claimed that "about ten of them" surrounded her on the street and refused to let her enter her apartment for about a half hour.

A part-time postal employee said that she had to spend "up to a half hour" some mornings just cleaning up the beer cans, broken soda bottles, and other refuse left by the group on the steps of the post office.

Bombings — A Revolutionary Force

POLICEMAN CHECKING EXPLOSION DAMAGE

(UPI Telephoto)

NEW YORK (UPI)—Powerful bombs ripped through the office of major corporations in three mid-Manhattan skyscrapers early today, shattering walls, windows and plumbing. No one was injured.

The bombings set off a rash of bomb scares, forcing evacuation of stores, schools and courts. Police, who had been warned that bombs were set to go off in the buildings, evacuated night workers but were unable to find the explosives in time.

The circumstances and results of the bombings were "very similar" to another triple bombing last Nov. 11 that hit other offices in Manhattan, a police official said.

Later this morning, police received another anonymous telephone call with the message that four bombs were set to explode in the lower level of Grand Central Terminal at 5:30 a.m. An emergency crew of police and firemen waited on the main level until after 5:30, then searched the downstairs area.

Saugerties School Break-In

Alertness Thwarts a $12,000 Heist

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON
Search was pressed today for an accomplice of a 29-year-old Saugerties man apprehended by State Police on the Thruway in connection with a major burglary at Saugerties Senior High School that netted business machines and other articles valued between $11,000 and $12,000.

Dennis Peter Wieder of Route 4, Box 57, Town of Saugerties, was arraigned before Kingston Town Justice Robert Ferrigan, who remanded the defendant to the county jail in lieu of $1,000 pending a hearing on March 18.

State Police said all of the stolen machines and other loot taken from the school had been recovered, and the station wagon had been impounded pending further investigation. The arrest of Wieder was made before the Saugerties break-in was discovered.

It was about 3 a.m. today when an alert toll collector, Peter Fabbie saw a station wagon loaded with business machines, and a Cadillac following the lead vehicle, enter the superhighway at the Saugerties interchange. Fabbie notified state police.

Troopers Stephen Blydenburgh and L. B. Huggins of Albany, who had been assigned to the Kingston area last night because of a shortage of manpower due to illness, were alerted by radio. They headed south on the Thruway to overtake the station wagon.

As the police passed the sedan and pursued the station wagon the operator of the latter vehicle apparently realized he was being followed. Troopers said later the man leaped from the moving vehicle and fled into the woods near Bloomington. The station wagon stopped in a ditch.

Blydenburgh and Huggins checked the contents of the station wagon and saw the machines. Then they took off after the sedan, and at New Paltz interchange they learned from a collector that the car had exited from the superhighway and re-entered and headed north.

The troopers later overtook the sedan and subsequently arrested the driver, identified as Wieder. It was reported that Wieder told the troopers the driver of the station wagon had thrown some machines from his vehicle and that he (Wieder) had picked them up.

Our First Plane Loss in Laos

(Combined Wire Services)

The U.S. Command announced today that ground fire shot down a U.S. bomber in northern Laos Tuesday — the United States' first formal admission of any aircraft loss in the Laotian war.

Military spokesmen said an Air Force propeller-driven A1 Skyraider crashed and both crewmen were injured but rescued.

The command had said Tuesday it would start announcing aircraft losses and casualties in the air war over Laos on orders from Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, who said it was designed to "provide additional information to the public."

Laird got his order from President Nixon. Up to Tuesday, the United States had not disclosed plane losses or casualties in the Laotian fighting.

Military sources have said U.S. planes are flying as many as 400 sorties a day over Laos, with most of the strikes against the Ho Chi Minh Trail, carrying an increasingly heavy amount of men and supplies into South Vietnam.

$30 Million Boost For U.S. Drug War

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, announcing a $30 million increase in federal research and education efforts to fight narcotics traffic, says "drug addiction among school-age youth is increasing at an alarming rate."

In a statement issued Wednesday, Nixon said: "Although appropriations for drug education and training have grown six-fold between fiscal 1969 and fiscal 1971, the situation calls for much greater effort."

He called for $135.6 million in education and research funds for the fiscal year starting July 1, up from $105.8 million in the current budget year.

One feature of the Nixon drug program will increase available money for marijuana research yet. Both drugs have negative effects.

Nixon announced plans to spend $3.5 million through the Office of Education to train teachers and other school personnel in the fundamentals of drug abuse education. When spread among all the states, however, grants to each will be quite modest, ranging from $40,000 to $210,000 each.

The Big Crunch in Eddyville

The Big Crunch is on in Eddyville as a giant car crusher works through the week at Buck's Scrap Iron & Metal Co., intersection of Route 213 and Mountain Road. Junk cars collected in the Kingston area are pressed into scrap metal wafers at the rate of 100 a day for shipping to a reprocessing firm in Pennsylvania. It is estimated that 400 vehicles will be compressed in the current operation. Manpower and equipment are from Johnson 100 Cars a Day Crushed Company of Corinth in upstate New York. American Citizenship for 16 at County Court House

By LYNN MULVANEY
KINGSTON

"... If you destroy the laws, the rules by which this nation has survived, you will have total anarchy," Supreme Court Justice T. Paul Kane told the 16 persons who took the oath of allegiance to the United States Wednesday in moving and colorful ceremonies at Ulster County Court House.

"Undoubtedly some of you present here today can attest to the fact that freedom without rules or laws is not freedom at all, but an illusion."

As the judge spoke, the 16 petitioners, some smiling, some fighting tears of joy, listened intently as he referred to what he termed significant changes the country is now undergoing and that appear to be inevitable. "But I do not mean to indicate that all change is necessarily progress," Justice Kane cautioned them.

"Recent events in our nation, and particularly in our courts seem to demonstrate a concerted effort of some to destroy our legal system in America."

"I say to you all, our system is sound and can endure this new threat, as it has overcome other threats in the past."

"Our government is a government of laws, not of men," the Justice continued. "Certain men are designated to administer those laws and those men being mere mortals subject to human frailties may make mistakes." But, he added, "there are provisions within the framework of the law for the people to remedy such errors."

Naturalization Court opened at 11 a.m. with a color guard presented by the Ladies Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Joyce Shirick Post 1386.

The examiner's recommendations were made to Justice Kane by Leonard Leopold, United States Naturalization examiner and the oath of allegiance administered by William Krum, deputy clerk of the court.

Kingston High School buglers and the A Cappella Choir performed while Life Magazine cameras and CBS television recorded the event.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, Wiltwyck Chapter, Kingston presented individual flags to each of the new citizens and corsages were presented in behalf of the Sheriff's Department. Saugerties Chapter DAR also participated.

Arrangements for the proceedings were under the direction of County Clerk Albert Spada assisted by Mrs. Claire Burden and Mrs. June Davidson.

Among guests were Girl Scouts, school children, and members of the community. Boy Scout Troop 63 served as ushers.

Those named to U.S. citizenship included: Mark Albert Vanderberg, Albert Navarro, Esther and Solomon Zweifler, Mrs. Genevieve Parsons, Amir Alireza Mansourian, Kasim Selimotic, Dr. Jalal Madhavian, Walter Boris Halaberdia, Mrs. Magda Torok, Pierre Meubauer, Mrs. Maria Filosa, Mrs. Candelaria Heydrich Estrada, Anton Kastner Alois Quirin and John Francisco Raggio.

Sentence for Leary Delayed; Wife and Son Get Six Months

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—to the jail sentence. He committed John Leary, 20, to the Adult Authority in Chino Calif. Timothy Leary was delayed Wednesday but his wife and son were handed sentences of six months in jail and 90 days observation, respectively, for marijuana and LSD possession.

Orange County Superior Court Judge Byron K. McMillan placed Rosemary Leary, 34, on five years probation in addition Both sentences begin Monday. Judge McMillan postponed sentencing for Leary, 50, a former Harvard instructor, until Monday after a plea for more time to study the case by his attorney, George Chula.

PHILIPPINE MOSLEMS

The Moslems, who were named Moros by the Spaniards after the Moors of Spain, live only in the southern Philippines. The Moros were converted to Islam by Moslem missionaries from India in the 15th and 16th centuries.

A Superior Court jury convicted all three Learys Feb. 19 after they were arrested Dec. 26, 1968 in Laguna Canyon by officers who said their station wagon—the prosecution called it a "drugmobile"—was parked in the middle of the road.

Rosemary and John Leary were found guilty by the six-man, six-woman jury of possession of LSD and marijuana, while Leary was convicted only of marijuana possession.

Leary also faces a 10-year sentence imposed by a Texas judge earlier this month on a conviction of smuggling marijuana into the United States from Mexico. Leary's attorneys have said they would appeal of the Neo-American Church, that case.

Meanwhile Arthur Kleps, co-defendants on the former Leary defendant with Leary in another estate in Millbrook. He was beer narcotics case in Dutchess County, has been remanded to the Dutchess County Jail in lieu of $5,000.

to change the future for almost 275,000 kids.

The $78,142,584 that the New York State Lottery has contributed to Education could have paid for State scholarships and grants for almost 275,000 kids; or bought 15,628,516 schoolbooks—or hired 9,767 new teachers—or bought 7,814 brand-new school buses—or paid the fuel bill for 2½ years for every public school building in New York State.

That's the real value of the Lottery to every resident of the State: Not what it gives some of us in prizes...but what it saves all of us in taxes.

Machinery Fund Being Proposed

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON
The establishment of a capital machinery fund which would provide for anticipated annual needs and eliminate the necessity of financing needed county highway equipment is being proposed by Ulster County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago.

Savago asks that the highway budget in the future provide for a capital machinery fund and that annual sums be raised by taxation to provide for the continuation of the fund. In a resolution prepared for presentation to the Legislature at its meeting tonight in the County Office Building, Savago asks that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Bridges and Highways for its study and recommendation. Explaining that the maintenance of the highway system in the county requires the use of machinery which requires a regular schedule of maintenance and replacement, Savago said that "it would seem in the interest of efficient county highway operation that a regular schedule of repair and maintenance be maintained. He said that until now the County of Ulster has annually provided various sums required for the purpose of purchasing new equipment adding that it occasionally requires the issuance of machinery bonds and paying interest on such bonds.

The capital machinery fund, he concludes would eliminate the necessity for such financing and interest charges.

The names of four men will be submitted to the Legislature for appointment to the Ulster County Planning Board.

They are: Gifford Beal of the Town of Lloyd, to fill the unexpired term of the late Donald Weaver. The term will run to Dec. 31, 1972.

Leslie Meyers of the Village of Ellenville to fill a vacancy created by John E. Johnson who has resigned. The term expires Dec. 31, 1972.

Raymond Coles, Town of Ulster, for appointment until Dec. 31, 1974.

William Eckert, Town of Wawarsing for the post of Wilfred Kopp whose term is expiring. The new term would run until Dec. 31, 1972.

Eugene Noe, (R Ninth Dist.) is offering the resolution in behalf of the Industrial Development and Publicity Committee.

Sportsmen's Clubs Appeal

KINGSTON Bartech, club president, to the five thousand sportsmen of Ulster County, members of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs have appealed to the Ulster County Legislature not to "ruin the semi-wilderness of Hurley Mountain with noise, jet polluted air and the sterile landscape for an airport." Some time in the near future the Legislature will be faced with acting upon the proposal of the County Airport Commission which has named Hurley Mountain as its choice for a county airport site. In a letter from Walter Legislators, the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs, which are located in almost every township of the county, stated that none of the 35 to 40 clubs in the county favored the location.

"Locating inside the forest preserve would mean the end of the home of one of the largest deer herds in the eastern Catskills," they maintain. "Also large areas of forever wild state land surround the proposed location. This land would become useless for outdoor recreation. Why ruin this semi-wilderness area with its deer herds, wild life and stately pine trees?" they ask.

"With a major airport proposed for the Red Hook-Rhinebeck area and Stewart Field only a short distance from Kingston, is an Ulster County Airport really warranted?"

"The cost of an airport in this rugged area of streams, deep ravines, rocky terrain, and large stands of timber would be excessive. "If the answer to this is affirmative, why desecrate the Hurley Mountain with irreparable damage?"

"The alligators won the victory over a jetport in the Florida Everglades. Why can't the people of Ulster County keep Hurley Mountain forever wild?"

Esopus to Curb Fleecing of Elderly

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

PORT EWEN
The Town of Esopus is studying measures to halt the fleecing of elderly residents by itinerant roof repair, septic tank and other service operators.

Under consideration is a recommendation by Sgt. Joseph Feraca of the town constabulary, who asked that signs be installed at each entrance of the town noting that peddling and soliciting without a license is forbidden.

The matter was brought up at the Wednesday night Town Board meeting. Supervisor George H. Freer, who has been working on the problem of itinerant repair men, noted that these itinerants will require a permit from the town clerk and this might curb the practice of fleecing the elderly. Supervisor Freer reported that the State Board of Equalization and Assessments has set an equalization rate of .17 for the township. This is one point lower than last year's rate. He said the board is studying the matter and a decision will be made whether or not to challenge the new rate at a hearing set in Albany on March 19. The supervisor reported that a car crusher is currently operating at Buck's junkyard in Eddyville on the disposal of junk cars. He said the Town Board is planning to negotiate with the operator to return again as the need arises. The long battle of 26 months at the unguarded Esopus Avenue railroad crossing came to an end this week. Freer said the lights are now in operation.

In another matter concerning the Penn Central Railroad, Freer noted that workers have been clearing the debris of a derailment at Floyd Ackert Road in Ulster Park. However, the work has slowed down this week, he said.

Reporting on two drainage problems, the supervisor advised that all plans have been completed to solve the problem at Bowne and Smith Streets, Port Ewen and Superintendent of Highways Paul Mercier has ordered the pipe needed for the project. Bids for the work will be advertised shortly.

Another drainage problem has been reported at Spring Valley Acres, Union Center Road in Ulster Park. However, and was turned over to the superintendent of highways for investigation. The Town Board will also visit the site this week. Supervisor Freer said the town is waiting for Ulster County Highway Department to move on the drainage problem on Union Center Road, a county highway.

The town's constabulary has been directed to investigate a

Rocky Seeks Protection for Consumers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller sought a crackdown today on merchants and finance companies who prey upon the consumer.

He spelled out several measures to curb fraud and deceit in purchases Wednesday in a consumer protection program submitted to the legislature.

Some of the proposals have been sought for years by consumer groups.

For example, one recommendation would help consumers who buy goods on credit. In some cases, the consumer has to continue payments though unable to get services on shoddy goods.

This may be the case where the sales contract is sold by the store to a third party, usually a finance company. The store may go out of business but the finance company can still demand payment.

Rockefeller suggested that the third party be stripped of immunity in such cases and be responsible for the practices of seller. In other words, the buyer could bring suit against the finance company and stop payments if necessary when services were not forthcoming.

Another recommendation, also endorsed by consumer groups, would allow so-called "class actions" to be brought in a single test case on behalf of thousands of consumers. Now, each consumer has to sue separately to obtain relief.

This could be applied in sales contracts. Under terms of Rockefeller's proposal, a consumer contesting a violation in his sales contract could win a judgment for himself and all others who signed similar contracts.

The consumer program overshadowed legislative activity at the Capitol Wednesday. Both houses recessed until Monday after acting on several bills.

Among the approved measures were those that would:

— Permit the State Liquor Authority to issue identification cards to youths seeking proof that they are old enough to buy alcoholic beverages. The youths would have to show them they are 18 years old or more to obtain the identification cards. The measure was sent to the Assembly after Senate passage.

— Stiffen the penalties for forcible rape. The measure, passed in the Assembly and sent to the Senate, would mandate a prison term ranging from 15 years to life for first-degree rape. The crime now is punishable by a term of 1 to 25 years in prison, or probation.

— Require use of paper ballots when voting machines break down.

Rockefeller, in a special message with his consumer program, said that "Unfortunately, a fringe of unscrupulous operators practice fraud and deceit at a cost of millions of dollars to consumers and to the detriment of honest merchants."

He urged the legislature to create a Consumer Protection Board in the governor's office to promote consumer interests and coordinate consumer activities among the various state departments.

The board would advise on consumer affairs, test products and conduct research, assist class actions, assist local governments in consumer protection activities and develop consumer education programs.

The governor's program consisted of a package of 10 bills. The measure also included those that would:

— Allow a three-day cooling-off period after purchases from door-to-door salesman. Customers could cancel orders within the time period.

— Exempt from wage garnishments a sufficient portion of income to permit persons to meet basic living expenses.

— Prohibit retailers or finance companies, under a revolving credit plan, from taking any security interest in connection with the plan.

Eye an 'Action' Lottery

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller and the legislature's Republican leaders are seriously considering cutting the price of the state's lottery tickets from $1 to 25 cents, selling them through vending machines and holding weekly prize drawings.

Their objective is to build more "action" into the lottery and thus hypo revenues. Most of the extra proceeds would be channelled into the treasuries of financially struggling cities across the state.

The revitalized lottery plan is being considered as an alternative to two other gambling proposals presented to the legislature — legalized off-track betting on the horses and legalization of the numbers game, enterprises now operated by organized crime.

The lottery proposal was advanced by Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea Jr. at a meeting earlier this week with Rockefeller and Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges.

Brydges told The Associated Press he liked the idea and was prepared to give it strong support. Rockefeller reminded Duryea that he always had favored a bargain-price lottery ticket but said he would like to have his staff analyze the proposal thoroughly before committing himself.

Other persons who participated in the meeting reported that Rockefeller had been leaning strongly toward the off-track betting plan advocated by New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay. The governor had opposed off-track betting in previous years but was said to be weakening.

The proposal to legalize the numbers game was advanced two weeks ago by the Joint Legislative Committee on Crime and Its Causes, headed by Sen. John H. Hughes, R-Syracuse. The committee argued that the state more income — and that this could deprive organized crime of a major source of income by doing so without raising state taxes.

Lindsay maintains that city-controlled off-track betting parlors could produce up to $200 million a year in new revenue. Duryea and Brydges contend, however, that the venture is socially undesirable — that it would tend to encourage professional gambling by persons who really cannot afford it.

The proposal to legalize the numbers game was advanced two weeks ago by the Joint Legislative Committee on Crime and Its Causes, headed by Sen. John H. Hughes, R-Syracuse. The committee argued that the state

Memos Concern White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daniel P. Moynihan's private papers to the President have suddenly become as public as press releases—and the White House is getting concerned.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said "no major investigation" has been ordered to learn the source of the leaks that for a second time within 10 days put a Moynihan confidential memorandum to the President on the nation's front pages. But Ziegler said it is unfortunate that a member of the President's staff could not communicate with the chief executive privately without risking disclosure of the contents of his advice.

The latest disclosure Wednesday touched off a wave of speculation that Moynihan might be the victim of Byzantine-like intrigue spawned by enemies within the administration. Asked in a recent interview if this were possible, the ruddy-faced urban adviser, who holds the title of counselor to the President, replied:

"That's a possible explanation, of course. But I've been in government most of my life and there's hardly a day for the newspapers in this country in which some government document that's internal is not published and discussed upon in some way or another."

The great danger in the leaks, Moynihan said, is the effect disclosure can have on the flow of information to the President. "Advisers, staff, assistants to people ought to be as free as they can be to say exactly what they think and report whatever information they have in private. If these channels aren't reasonably private, then people stop doing that."

Moynihan has been under sharp attack since publication last week of a January memorandum in which he suggested a policy of "benign neglect" toward the racial question. The latest disclosures involved a memorandum in which Moynihan discussed lower class violence and urged the transformation of the black lower class into "a stable working class population."

The memorandum, written shortly before Nixon's inauguration, also called the Vietnam War "a disastrous mistake because we have lost it."

The New York Times said it obtained the preinaugural memorandum from an unidentified journalist, who obtained it last Sunday and turned it over to the Times "because his small paper did not have the space to print the text."

That same day, the Bergen (N.J.) Evening Record used the preinaugural memorandum as the basis for a news story that appeared on one of its inside pages.

Evening Record reporter Sharon Rosenhouse, 26, said she received the memorandum that Friday night from a Bergen County black militant she declined to identify. She said the militant refused to tell her where he had obtained a copy.

Ziegler indicated Moynihan was taking the latest disclosure in stride. "Pat remarked to me this morning he is going to address all future memorandums to the President and his fellow countrymen," Ziegler said.

Oil Slick Is Pushed By Winds

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—An abrupt shift in the winds sent a "dark brown to black" runaway oil slick at least 17 miles long and a mile wide away from the Louisiana coast today.

The slick, which broke free from a barrier erected to contain it, was pushed by southerly winds Wednesday towards a wildlife refuge and valuable oyster beds. But the winds shifted to northerly late Wednesday, sending the largest slick in history towards the open waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, leading a party of seven assistant secretaries and advisers, was to visit New Orleans, Venice and Breton Island by helicopter today to see the effects of the slick.

Chevron Oil Co.'s "Charlie" platform caught fire a month ago and burned out of control until Tuesday, when firefighters blasted out the flames of the biggest offshore fire in the history of the Gulf's offshore petroleum operations. Then the slick began forming at the rate of 600 to 1,000 barrels a day.

A storm front bringing with it 60-mile-an-hour winds and 16-foot seas wrecked floating spillbooms connecting seven barges ranging in a close semicircle on "Charlie's" northern side. They were there to allow the oil to be held and skimmed out of the water by pumps.

Chevron has confirmed the well doing most of the oil spouting is No. 6, a well operating without a storm choke safety device and without a waiver to operate in such a manner from the federal government.

A storm choke is a subsurface safety valve designed to cut off the flow of a well when the rate of flow becomes abnormally high. When the flow is normal they remain open. They are not activated by fire or the threat of fire at the well head.

United Press International learned last week 120 of Chevron's 292 wells in Block 41 near "Charlie" were operating without storm chokes.

West Point, Watervliet Get Construction Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department requested authorization Wednesday for more than $19 million for military construction projects in New York State during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

All but $575,000 of the requested funds would be for projects in upstate New York.

The Air Force has requested $8,615,000 for Griffiss Air Force Base near Rome.

The Army has requested $8,519,000 for the U. S. Military at West Point and $1,362,000 for the Watervliet Arsenal near Albany.

The Army also requested $575,000 for Fort Hamilton in Brooklyn.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said the Watervliet construction, if given congressional approval, would provide for the establishment of a new weapons laboratory.

"This is further evidence of the point I made last week that Watervliet Arsenal is an important military installation and is not going to be shut down by the government," Stratton, an Amsterdam Democrat, said.

The facility has been hit with manpower cutbacks in each of the Defense Department's economy moves. "They wouldn't ask for this kind of money if they didn't intend to keep it and improve it," Stratton added.

The Griffiss request was believed to be involved with the Pentagon's recent announcement of the creation of 208 new military jobs at the base, but further details were not available.

Nixon Labels Spiro Pride of Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has told big-money Republicans that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, "the man no one knew," is the pride of the administration, the most effective fund-raising speechmaker ever to hold the office.

Nixon, once vice president himself, praised Agnew for his off-stage performance in the councils of government, too.

"There were those who said when I chose him, 'Well, that proves the new President doesn't know how to choose men,'" Nixon said. "Well, if that is the kind of mistakes I've made, I'm proud of this one, believe me."

Agnew's emergence as the party's star political performer was among the themes woven into the campaign-year oratory at a black tie dinner that raised nearly $2 million for the GOP Wednesday night.

The party's leaders in Congress, then Agnew, then Nixon, needed the Democrats and spoke of high hopes for Republican gains in the House and Senate in the Nov. 3 elections.

"I'm not going to talk in partisan terms tonight, this is not the appropriate time to do so," Nixon told a hotel ballroom full of $1,000-a-plate diners.

"... It just happens that at this particular time in history, this party ... has the responsibility to develop the leadership that will determine whether peace and freedom will survive in the world," he said. "I think we can do it."

Agnew, whose telegrams to laggard GOP donors produced a late surge in $1,000 ticket sales, said Nixon's integrity and confidence has made "this administration first in the hearts of the American people."

Policeman Dies In Shootout

DETROIT (UPI)—One policeman was killed and another wounded in a shootout at a west side apartment Wednesday night. Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy said today.

Four persons were arrested. Murphy said Ptl. William Slappey, 24, a plainclothesman who had been on the force 2½ years, was dead on arrival at Henry Ford Hospital. Patrolman Charles S. McEwen, 26, "one of the officers responding to a call for assistance," was shot in the left shoulder, Murphy said.

McEwen was in good condition today at Ford Hospital. Murphy said Slappey and his partner, Ptl. Charles Brown, 32, were investigating a complaint at a second-floor apartment.

"As they were admitted to the apartment, they were fired upon," he told newsmen.

Four persons were arrested by police who rushed to the scene when Brown, who was uninjured in the shootout, called for help. They were being detained today pending possible issuance of charges stemming from the incident, a spokesman for Murphy's office said.

Census Gamble

At least 5.7 million people were left out of the 1960 census enumeration, two million of them blacks. In the city of Washington, it was estimated that 50,000 blacks were not included in the count. The Census Bureau does not want such an oversight to happen this census.

Jerry S. Cooper, a community coordinator of the Census Bureau, has the interesting assignment of developing innovative techniques for making sure nobody is missed. He has come up with a dandy. He believes that numbers writers—small time gamblers, who back gamblers on the daily number game so widely played in inner cities—would lend the census the needed credibility in the ghettos that will bring out all the population.

Accordingly, Cooper would like to get some paroled inner city numbers writers—former small racketeers, if you please—to do the census writing in the ghetto. They would be paid on a piece work basis. Since the 19th decennial is more than ever before a do-it-yourself operation, a former numbers writer could be counted on to overcome the apathy and suspicion, and make this census as accurate as it can be made.

In different forms, the problem is general. Ethnic groups are suspicious of outsiders. So are rural people. In each place, the problem is to overcome the apathy and suspicion and get the count. We can all help our own census takers both by cooperating on our returns and by helping to find enumerators who have the confidence of the community.

Cash Incentives

The New Jersey graduated work incentive experiment, conducted for the Office of Economic Opportunity by the University of Wisconsin and a Princeton, N. J., research group, has turned in an encouraging report. With the reports of only 500 of the 1,359 families involved, the three-year test has already shown that sample American low-income families are eager to work to improve their lot when given an incentive to do so.

The families, 36 per cent white, 36 per cent black and 28 per cent Spanish-speaking, had their earnings reinforced by modest income additions averaging $1,100 annually, or $91.66 per month. Their work effort increased 53 per cent and their monthly income—earnings plus supplementary benefits—rose from $340 to $381. What attracted them most was job stability. Two-thirds said they would work at two jobs to raise their status.

The preliminary report concluded: "Low-income people are strongly work motivated," with an emphasis on strongly. This conclusion seems to justify President Nixon's plan to use federal grants to put a floor under income, at a minimum of $1,600 for a family of four. Estimated cost is $4.4 billion a year, but if it stimulates these people to work harder and raise their earnings, perhaps we can gradually lower poverty and eventually its immense cost.

By 1980, the Common Market hopes to achieve a genuinely European currency that would challenge the supremacy of the dollar. The finance ministers of the six countries want to create a European dollar that could dethrone the Eurodollar—U.S. currency held overseas. The fact that they put their goal a decade ahead shows the difficulties.

David Lawrence Says Power of National Labor Unions Grows Extensively

WASHINGTON — The latest survey shows that nearly 83 per cent of the union contracts made with companies nowadays provide some requirement either for membership in the union or dues paying on the part of the employee.

The Bureau of National Affairs, Inc., which has just completed a comprehensive study, says that the most prevalent form of union security is the "union shop," which requires all employees to join the union after 30 days on the job and to maintain membership as a condition of employment. Eighty-six per cent of the contracts call for the deduction of union dues from pay envelopes. In nine per cent of the contracts, employees who do not become members are required to pay service fees equal to the amount of union dues.

Hiring provisions — for example, requiring only that preference be given to workers living in the area or to those with prior experience in the industry — are found in 17 per cent of the contracts. But agreements expressly stipulating that union members be hired are almost nonexistent, as these are illegal in companies subject to the Taft-Hartley Act.

In construction and other skilled trade unions, the labor union office supplies the worker when an employer begins a building project in a new area or expands his working force. As a practical matter, a building contractor who operates under a union contract usually asks the union office to send out carpenters, plumbers and other skilled craftsmen for jobs that open up.

This is where union leaders run into conflict with the government's efforts to impose racial quotas on hiring of new employees. Labor leaders complain that the government is trying to force them to take into their unions — and into construction jobs — unqualified Negroes.

Labor Unions for the most part conduct their internal affairs amicably, though frequently there are bitter contests between rival candidates for office inside a union which stir up ill feelings. Officials of labor unions have found over the years that they can be re-elected only if they push steadily for wage increases. In a sense they are prompted by what may be called "labor union politics." Employers recognize often that the union leaders would at times welcome some outside panel to pass judgment on their demands because strikes are costly and occasionally do not yield the anticipated benefits.

Labor unions have steadily grown in size until today the membership is approximately 19,000,000. The entire labor force is estimated at about 82,000,000. The unorganized labor population, however, is largely in rural districts and in occupations in which it would be difficult to effect organization.

Broadly speaking, labor union leaders feel that over the years they have benefited by collective bargaining, and that they have in many cases prevented the passage of legislation unfavorable to their own interests. The power of the National Labor Union has grown extensively in recent decades. When a strike is called, an entire industry can be shut down because the local unions obey the orders of the leaders of the National Union with which they are affiliated. Workers in the skilled trades are almost completely unionized. They have a monopoly in virtually all the manufacturing industries.

Nineteen states have what are known as "right-to-work" laws. These prohibit any labor union from compelling a worker to join a labor organization as a means of getting a job or remaining in a job. The labor groups, however, have managed to prevent the spread of such laws to other states.

What is surprising, of course, is that with all the talk about "liberalism" and "individual rights," a worker in numerous industries must join a union after 30 days in order to keep his job. The employer, moreover, has agreed to the mandate. The courts have never ruled against this obvious invasion of individual rights.

The argument usually heard is that the non-members can hardly bargain by themselves and that the labor union represents the only organized body which can conduct collective bargaining negotiations. But the element of compulsion nevertheless remains, and it is this factor which has led to the development of a "National Right-to-Work Committee" which carries on a continuous crusade against any form of compulsory unionization.

Not even his closest political associates seem to know for sure. What everybody here is waiting to find out is whether the former United Nations ambassador and Supreme Court justice will offer himself for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The prospect is tantalizing to Democratic party leaders, who see Goldberg as their only potential "big name" candidate with the stature necessary to compete with Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller in the November election.

Long starved for state patronage jobs, the party hierarchy has visions of Goldberg sweeping onto the political scene as a relatively fresh entity, inciting the electorate to elect the somewhat time-worn Rockefeller team from control of the state administration.

They have examined the results of polls indicating that Goldberg is a much more likely winner than the various lesser-known Democrats who have declared their ambition to vanquish the formidable Rockefeller.

The snugly entrenched Republicans regard Goldberg as by far the most serious threat to their political security, and they are playing the same guessing game with equally intense interest. For a while last fall, it appeared that Goldberg was set to vault from his New York City law practice into the arena of elective politics. But, abruptly, he backed off, declaring in mid-December that he had decided against running for any public office and that his decision was final.

Overcoming their initial melancholy, party leaders partial to a Goldberg candidacy launched a campaign in January to bring Goldberg back into the picture. They have been working on it doggedly ever since.

Jack Anderson Says

Nixon Is Using the Opinion Polls Like Weather Vane

WASHINGTON — President Nixon sometimes seems to be more of an American parrot than an American eagle on controversial domestic issues.

Like President Johnson before him, Richard Nixon watches the opinion polls carefully. When his secret polls tell him a particular stand is popular, he tends to exploit it for political gain.

On the question of bussing black children to white schools, for example, he has sought guidance from the polls.

The President "consistently opposed and still opposes compulsory bussing of school children to achieve racial balance," his press secretary Ron Ziegler said last month. He added that Nixon wants to "preserve rather than destroy the neighborhood school."

Four days later the President himself said "to the extent possible" the neighborhood school concept should be the rule.

Rowdies in South Carolina took him literally and overturned two school busses full of Negro children.

More important to the President than such vigilantes, however, is what the great mass of Americans thought about his bussing statements. He had the Republican National Committee run a poll based almost word for word on the White House policy statements.

"Do you favor or oppose the bussing of students on a compulsory basis to achieve racial integration?" asked the poll, mimicking nearly the precise words of Ziegler.

The secret results, sent to White House political factotum Harry Dent, told the President he had hit pay dirt. Over all, 64 per cent of those polled opposed bussing and 22 per cent favored it. The secret poll, based on 1,020 telephone calls to representative persons over 21, declares:

"Republicans (12 per cent favor; 78 per cent opposed) differed significantly from Democrats (30 per cent favor; 56 per cent opposed)."

"There was virtually no difference in responses between those with school age children and those without."

"A light difference by age groups occurred, with younger persons somewhat more in favor of bussing."

"There was surprisingly little difference between the Midwest, South and West. The East is somewhat more in favor of bussing than other regions."

"As income increases the opposition to bussing increases."

"Negroes and whites took nearly opposite positions, but 29 per cent of the Negroes reported opposition to bussing. Males are significantly more in opposition to bussing than females."

The poll takers claim that the results "represent a random probability sample of all U.S. telephone households (less Hawaii and Alaska). This is approximately 54,750,000 households."

More than enough to influence the President.

Will Goldberg Run for Governor? Both Parties Intensely Interested

By CHARLES DUMAS
(Associated Press Writer)

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Arthur Goldberg is the name of the most popular guessing game at the State Capitol. The question is will he — or won't he?

Not even his closest political associates seem to know for sure.

What everybody here is waiting to find out is whether the former United Nations ambassador and Supreme Court justice will offer himself for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The prospect is tantalizing to Democratic party leaders, who see Goldberg as their only potential "big name" candidate with the stature necessary to compete with Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller in the November election.

Long starved for state patronage jobs, the party hierarchy has visions of Goldberg sweeping onto the political scene as a relatively fresh entity, inciting the electorate to elect the somewhat time-worn Rockefeller team from control of the state administration.

They have examined the results of polls indicating that Goldberg is a much more likely winner than the various lesser-known Democrats who have declared their ambition to vanquish the formidable Rockefeller.

The snugly entrenched Republicans regard Goldberg as by far the most serious threat to their political security, and they are playing the same guessing game with equally intense interest. For a while last fall, it appeared that Goldberg was set to vault from his New York City law practice into the arena of elective politics. But, abruptly, he backed off, declaring in mid-December that he had decided against running for any public office and that his decision was final.

Overcoming their initial melancholy, party leaders partial to a Goldberg candidacy launched a campaign in January to bring Goldberg back into the picture. They have been working on it doggedly ever since.

In recent days, various Democratic politicians and political pundits have offered an array of somewhat conflicting assessments on the likelihood of a Goldberg candidacy. Goldberg himself has delivered a series of ambiguous "clarifications" of his position.

The result has been to befuddle players of the Goldberg guessing game to a point where very few people admit to a clearly held opinion. There is agreement only on the essential uncertainty of the whole business.

This extends even to the most ardent pursuers of Goldberg, as exemplified by Erie County's Democratic chairman, Joseph F. Crangle. In one breath, Crangle says he is absolutely convinced that Goldberg will enter the race, only to concede that he has no definite commitment to that effect.

The problem, as Crangle and other Democrats see it, is that Goldberg is unwilling to submit his reputation to the bruising of a gubernatorial struggle without clear-cut evidence that the party really wants and needs him to become its standard-bearer.

Crangle says Goldberg is willing to fight for the nomination in the primary election, if necessary, but must be convinced that he will have the broad-based support needed to win it.

Some Republicans — and many Democrats also — subscribe to the view that Goldberg intended all along to become a candidate and that he issued his December demurrer only because he was getting out ahead too early and wished to avoid having to take positions on politically delicate issues for a few more months.

Crangle discounts this theory, pointing out that many Democrats apparently have accepted Goldberg's disclaimers at face value. Apart from difficulty, this has induced in marshalling new evidence of support for Goldberg. Crangle says, it is naive to assume that major political candidacies can be stage-managed so readily.

Crangle has told other Democrats that Goldberg can be expected to declare his candidacy at least 10 days before the April 12 meeting of the Democratic State Committee, at which candidates for governor and other statewide offices are to be designated.

But can he guarantee it? No.

And the guessing game continues.

—Vice President Spiro T.

Agnew, in a Lincoln Day speech.

When you try political activists under a conspiracy charge—long considered to be the most dubious kind of criminal charge—and when a trial becomes fundamentally an examination of political acts and beliefs—then guilt or innocence becomes almost irrelevant.

—New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, referring to the "Chicago Seven" trial, at a dinner of the Bar Association of New York.

Massive school segregation does not exist because we have segregated our schools but because we have segregated our society and our neighborhoods.

Two New Paltz Incumbents Dropped From Ballot

By SHANE CROSBY

NEW PALTZ The March 17 election in this village took a sudden change this week as village Trustees William George and Harold Phillips, seeking reelection, were dropped from the ballot, according to Clerk William Fredenburgh.

test by John Logan and Charles Wooster, were taken off the ballot on the advice of the village attorney because the two had failed to meet the requirements of the election law.

Both Logan and Wooster will be appearing on the ballot, apparently without opposition. The clerk did not rule out the possibility of write-in votes for the two incumbents, and commented that that form of voting would be acceptable and "like any other."

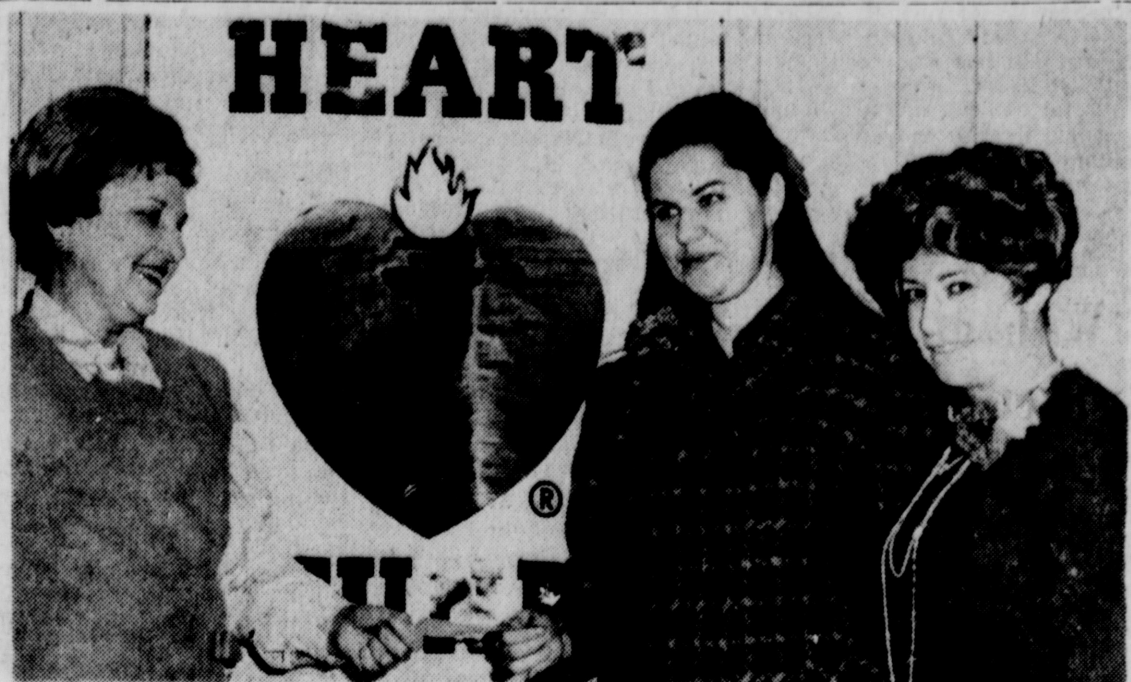

being barred from the ballot, candidate Logan said, "I have been shocked by the contemptuous attitude displayed by the incumbent village board members towards the Election Law. . . . The law is clear and obvious in setting forth the requirements for legal nomination, yet, the incumbents either carelessly or willfully disregarded it." Logan then challenged Village Clerk Fredenburgh for planning to use paper ballots instead of voting machines, which Logan said were delivered to campaign has put a "clamp" on local issues.

new nothing about any voting date night" and a "village forum," sponsored by the League of Women Voters and I believe the issues are so important and I believe so strong.

"Now that the incumbents are off the ballot," he said, "and that I will be glad to meet my ex-opponents in public discussion, there is probably no sion at any suitable place and opportunity for us to meet in a time between now and next Tuesday."

He continued, "despite their legal incapacity, I believe the issues are so important and I believe so strong."

Rhinebeck Board Sets Meeting Date

RHINEBECK The Rhinebeck Town Board has designated 7:30 p. m. March 19 at the Rhinecliff Firehouse for a special public meeting concerning the influx of Hudson River State Hospital outpatients.

Donald Cole told the board Wednesday night that he and 18 other Rhinecliff residents had met Tuesday night to discuss the proposed addition of another house of outpatients in their community.

A representative of the state board, when apprised by these citizens that they were not in favor of any more outpatients, said that they would have to file a complaint with Dr. Snow at the hospital, and asked that a public meeting be held to acquaint the people of the area with all facets of the problem. Hudson River State Hospital is involved in outpatient care throughout three counties, with about 350 patients housed in small settlements. The hamlet of Rhinecliff, with about 400 residents, already houses between 55 and 60 such outpatients.

"We are not concerned about those already here," explained Cole, "but we feel that we have reached a saturation point socially and economically."

In other town business, the board tabled consideration of setting up a boat marina on the Rhinecliff waterfront. The board had received communication from the state asking about Philip Stahl for one year.

A resolution by the Rhinebeck Citizens' Committee was read, urging that the Zoning Commission begin hearings on the proposed zoning law at the earliest possible date, preferably in March or April.

Planning Board Chairman Homer K. Staley said that the first public hearing on zoning would be held within the next two weeks if possible.

The Town Board appointed four persons to serve on the Planning Board and Zoning Commission. They are: Magnus Reichelt for five years; John von der Leith for four years; Donald Cole for one year; and Philip Stahl for one year.

A resolution was passed giving the state Office of Planning Coordination payment of $1,913.87, and another giving available within the month. He the Dutchess County Association also said that a Community for Senior Citizens payment on Day program is being advanced contract of $483.

Supervisor Allen advised the public that he would be speaking at the Town Hall from 9:12 a.m. Saturdays and from 7:9 p.m. Mondays.

And in a new move, the Town Clerk's office will be open Friday from 7:9 for the convenience of the public. A Deputy Town Clerk was appointed by the board, Mrs. Martha O'Dell.

Councilman Robert Wolfert was named to the joint towns villages committee on cable vision. Recommendations by Reichelt for five years; John von der Leith for four years; Donald Cole for one year; and Philip Stahl for one year.

Cut Busing 'Frills' Ellenville Is Told

ELLENVILLE residents voted to lower the distance. A new election could bring the minimum back to where it was.

The board said Tuesday it wants to study the matter first. An important factor which led to the seven-tenths-of-a-mile rule was young children having to walk along shoulder-less portions of Rte. 209 to get to school, Houck said.

Now there are shoulders on Rte. 209, he said, although no sidewalks.

The school board accepted the low bid of Lonstein Motors, Inc. for a 1970 GMC Carry-All for use as a school bus. Lonstein bid $2,865 while Collier-Chvrolet bid $2,937. The vehicle will have to be converted, for about $1,000 more, by adding seat belts and special flooring to meet state school bus standards, the board said.

Business Manager Sol Sashin told the board the bus and additions would still be cheaper than buying a similar vehicle under state contract. Which he said would cost $4,990.

At present Ellenville school children from kindergarten to sixth grade who live at least seven-tenths of a mile from school, and students in grades seven to twelve who live at least a mile from school, get transportation.

Curtain Comes Down Finally On the F-111s

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is now official: the Pentagon will not produce the troubled F-111 aircraft at a maximum of 536 planes—less than a quarter of the number originally proposed six years ago.

Gen. James Ferguson, head of the Air Force Systems Command, told the Senate Armed Services Committee Wednesday the Pentagon will spend no money on F-111 production beyond the budget year ending in mid-1972.

This, he said, will round out 111 at Las Vegas, Nev., last December. Officials found the Nevada accident was caused by a steel wing which caused a wing to break off.

Laird has said he will await the outcome of the Air Force inspection before committing himself to the final 40 of the fourth wing.

Nixon Names Draft Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has chosen Curtis W. Tarr, 45, an Air Force assistant secretary, as the new draft director, it was learned today.

The nomination of Tarr was being sent to the Senate this afternoon.

The former Wisconsin small college president was selected to succeed Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, 76, who retired Feb. 16.

Since then, the Selective Service has been under the supervision of Col. Dee Ingold, Hershey's former assistant who was named acting director. Hershey stepped down under Nixon's direction to become a presidential adviser on manpower and mobilization.

Rocky's Budget Is Assailed By Dem Hopeful

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's proposed state budget is inadequate to meet the state's needs and should be defeated, says Williams J. vanden Heuvel.

Vanden Heuvel, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said Wednesday, "Every local government in New York is faced with financial chaos."

"Cities have to raise property taxes, resort to retail taxes, and have literally come to the end of their tax powers."

Rockefeller, he charged, has created another "hidden surplus" in his budget while funds are desperately needed.

Last year Rockefeller made a sudden announcement that an "extra" $200 million had been "discovered" in the budget, he said.

Another Democratic gubernatorial candidate, Queens Dist. Atty. Thomas J. Mackell said Wednesday that Rockefeller should sign legislation that would increase penalties for causing death by unlawfully injecting a dangerous drug.

Meanwhile, Deputy Mayor Robert M. Morgenthau, another possible Democratic gubernatorial candidate, urged Rockefeller to veto a bill which would establish confidentiality privilege between accountants and their clients. He said it would hinder prosecution of some white collar criminals.

Ulster Sewer Hearing—Some Minor Adjustments Made

LAKE KATRINE. Only minor objections were raised at the Wednesday night public hearing on a local law to regulate the use of sewers in the Town of Ulster Sewer Improvement District held at Lake Katrine School, and another public hearing is likely after clarification of certain sections have been incorporated into the proposed law.

Seymour Werbalowsky, town attorney said the hearing brought out that certain refinements are needed to clarify some of the sections of the proposed local law, and when these are completed by Ulster Town Board another public hearing 100 feet of the sewer must hook usual circumstance a residence may be necessary. More than 40 attended.

The local law designed to govern and regulate the use of sewers in the district must be adopted and a copy must accompany applications for state and federal aid, the town attorney said.

The hearing was held before Town Supervisor Carmine Sabino and the councilmen of the board.

One of the items that may need clarification is the stipulation that all property owners, onto the system. The question may be many hundreds of feet, certain exceptions allowed in on garbage disposal units. The local law calls for a special permit to allow the use of commercial type garbage disposal units. This stipulation may also require clarification.

The pellet gun vandals apparently took a night off Wednesday, but some unidentified person or persons caused concern among residents of the city by sending in false alarms of fire. According to authorities an alarm was sounded from East Strand and Abruy Streets at 11:05 p.m., and later the call was recorded as false. Ten minutes later the fire horn again sent out an alarm. This time for a location at Gage and Farrelly Streets. Police noted that call was false. Earlier at 10:50 p.m., an alarm, which proved false, was sent in from Merritt Street and Merlina Avenue.

Police toured the area in Navara and Arlmont Streets. Under direction of Deputy Chief Harry Sills, firefighters quelled the blaze with Indian brush fire was reported in the vicinity of Becket Street. On arrival of firemen from Engine 2 and Excelsior Hose Company, they found a brisk fire burning overnight of any incidents in in brush in a vacant lot between vowing lead pellets.

The sewer project for most of the township is expected to cost in excess of $4.5 million. A sum of $1,500,000 of the cost is eligible for state and federal aid grants. However, the grant if approved is expected to total 60 per cent of this amount, or $941,000. The project will service 1,580 families within the boundaries of the sewer improvement area.

Phased Police Withdrawal Mulled by Buffalo Officials

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Officials of the State University at Buffalo and the city's police department arranged to meet today to draw up a schedule for the "phased withdrawal" of police from the school's strife-torn campus.

Alabama Day Blocks Action On Voting Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A test vote has put the Senate squarely in favor of lowering the voting age to 18 by law, but one man blocked the Senate from acting. "What's the rush?" asked Sen. James B. Allen, a Democratic freshman from Alabama.

"What's the rush?" responded Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. "If the senator from Alabama had eight children as does the senator from Michigan, he would not ask."

But Allen said he meant why did the Senate want to rush into lowering the voting age by law when, in his view, a constitutional amendment is required to do it legally.

Nonetheless, by a vote of 62 to 21, the Senate Wednesday rejected the motion of Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., to kill the proposal, offered by Democrat Leader Mike Mansfield, of Montana.

"It's the current youth kick," said Mansfield's Republican counterpart, Hugh D. Scott Jr., of Pennsylvania.

Scott sided with the Nixon Administration in voting to kill the Mansfield proposal. The administration argues a constitutional amendment is required.

But 25 Republicans deserted their party position and joined 37 Democrats in voting not to kill the Mansfield plan. Eleven Democrats — all southerners and 10 Republicans voted the other way.

Today's debate centered on an amendment offered by Allen to put the 18 year old vote into effect Jan. 1, 1973 instead of Jan. 1, 1971, as proposed by Mansfield.

Acting President Peter F. Reagan announced the withdrawal plans Wednesday at a meeting of the Faculty Senate in Memorial Auditorium, several miles from the campus.

At the session, the faculty members overwhelmingly approved a resolution censuring Reagan for ordering police on the campus Sunday but by a vote of 417-263 rejected a motion calling on him to resign. There are some 1,300 teachers.

No vote count was made on the police resolution.

About 1,000 students attended the meeting as observers. After the votes were taken, about 200 took up the rallying cry of campus dissidents: "On strike! Shut it down!" There also were heckles of "Regan-acting president of the faculty."

Regan left the arena under heavy police guard after the three-hour meeting ended.

Two weeks after the start of vandalism, firebombings and mass marches, the campus appeared tranquil Wednesday.

A mid-afternoon visitor to the campus saw only one eight-man police contingent on patrol. Other officers stayed out of sight in a command post set up at Clark Gymnasium.

Police Commissioner Frank N. Felicetta said the initial force of 400 policemen detailed to the campus Sunday had been reduced to 200 by Wednesday before plans for the phased withdrawal were announced.

While there was comparative calm at the university Wednesday, angry voices over the night of trouble were heard in the legislative houses at Albany.

Assemblyman Ronald H. Tills, R-Hamburg, called for the closing of the campus "until such time as the silent majority and the administration can assure the taxpayers of this state that their property will be protected."

"My constituency is demanding answers," GOP Assemblyman V. Sumner Carroll of Niagara Falls said, adding that in reinstating 20 suspended students the Buffalo administration "abrogated completely and totally their responsibility to the 20,000 students on that... campus."

In the Senate, Democrat Thomas F. McGowan, whose district includes the university said an "anarchist" student there told him recently: "You know, when it comes time, I am not going to mind killing you."

Assemblyman Leonard P. Stavisky, D-Queens, disagreed with the hard-line talk. "I would hope before we add more fuel to this fire, we would have the good sense to wait until all the facts are in."

GOP Assemblyman Charles D. Henderson of Hornell, chairman of the state commission on campus unrest, said that body was keeping a close eye on the Buffalo situation.

He suggested angry legislative speeches "may not contribute to a real solution" but only aggravate the trouble.

Labor Walkout Dims Vegas Strip Lights

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) —

The bright lights of the garish Las Vegas Strip disappeared Wednesday night in the wake of a massive walkout by union members. Some hotels turned away tourists for the first time in the history of the resort mecca.

The strip, with billions of its neon lights dark, looked like any other small city in America except for hundreds of pickets who paraded along the darkened sidewalks.

The 14,000-member Culinary and Bartenders Union struck three resorts early Wednesday and twelve hours later the picket lines spread to 13 other Strip hotels.

By midmorning the airports were jammed and traffic was heavy on the arteries leading out of town. Vacationers carried their own baggage out of the hotels.

A spokesman for the six Howard Hughes hotels said that new guests were being turned away and the Frontier Hotel probably would be closed entirely tonight.

A federal mediator sent requests to management and the unions to resume bargaining but received no reply from the unions. Management replied it would resume talks.

Caesars palace closed its casino and asked guests to leave as soon as possible. Other casinos virtually were empty and showroom curtains failed to go up as showgirls and musicians honored the picket lines.

Gov. Paul Laxalt said in Carson City that the state was old contract paid waiters and waitresses $11.60 a shift, cooks $33.95, minimum, and bartenders $28 to $31 per shift.

Only three of the major hotels—Riviera, Circus Circus and Bonanza—were unaffected by the strike, because they do not belong to the Resort Association and previously agreed to union terms. They reported a brisk business.

Al Bramlet, president of the executive board of the unions, predicted the strike would "be a long one." The unions asked for a 35 per cent wage increase over a three-year period. Their old contract paid waiters and waitresses $11.60 a shift, cooks $33.95, minimum, and bartenders $28 to $31 per shift.

At the Tropicana, Maynard S. Slater, hotel entertainment director, and Bill Pierce, a public relations executive, were tending bar.

"Everything is either a dollar or 75 cents because I can't add," Pierce said. "You can either order shots or beer, because we aren't too good at mixed drinks."

Americanism Campaign Started By Kingston Legion Post 150

KINGSTON One of the major activities of the committee is the flag periods for various organizations in the county. During this year 40 invitations to present programs have been accepted. More than 3,000 persons have been reached with these programs.

The Americanism Committee has traveled to more than a dozen area communities to present its program. They include voluntary fire companies, ladies auxiliaries, PTA's, church groups, political groups, Y-Wives, civic groups, veterans organizations and the Salvation Army.

Organizations interested in presenting such a program may contact Legion Commander John E. Van Dine or Americanism Committee Chairman Robert Sills Jr. Robert Winnie, Henry Houghtaling, Everett Emmick, Robert Ackert, Harry Maisen-

Other groups participating in this venture include the VFW, Catholic War Veterans, Marine Corps League, World War I Vets, Young Marines, Junior Auxiliary of VFW and the Young Americans for Freedom.

Due to the work of the YAF to encourage young Americans to love their country, the Legion Post has offered its facilities for the official meeting place of the YAF.

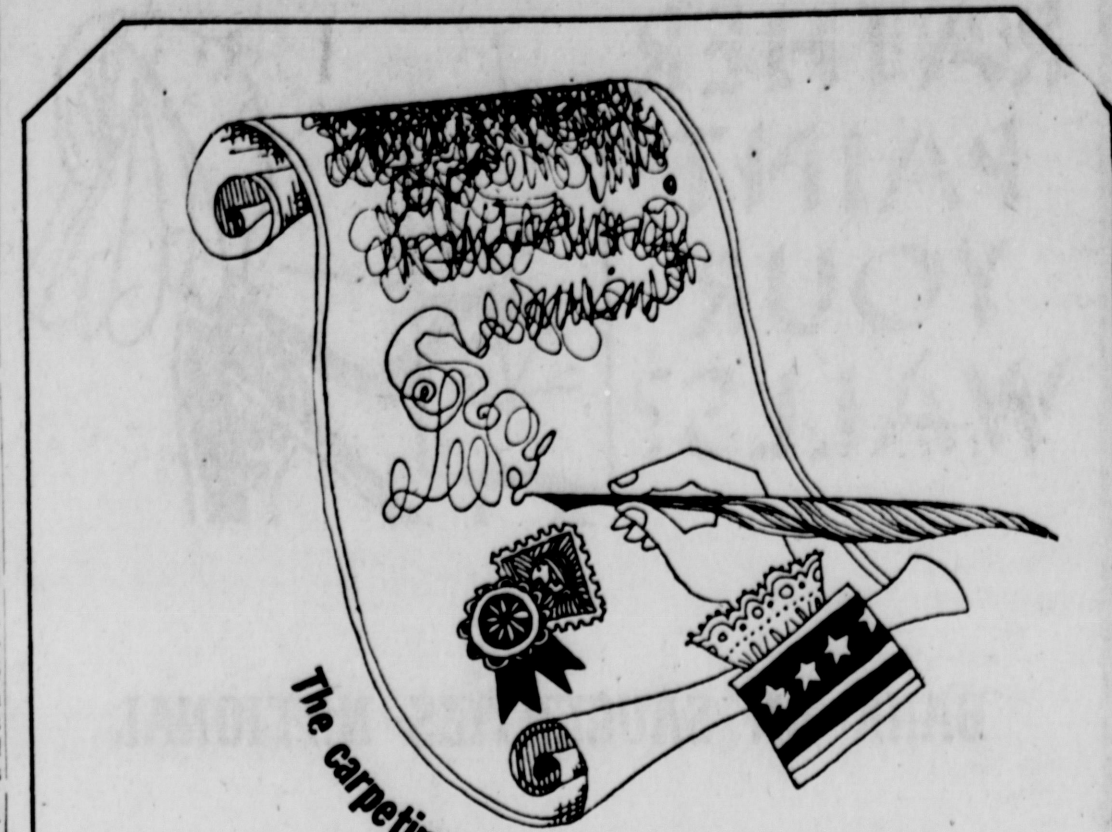

The current wave of un-Americanism displayed by some groups of young people has spurred the committee on to increase the intensity of its program to reach everyone and to let the concerned Americans know they have a champion.

holder, Albert Teetsel, Robert Van Kleeck, Joseph Policano and Clarence Hyde.

The committee has also presented desk flags to the chairmen of each such group where a program is conducted.

The most recent accomplishment of Post 150 has been to encourage and organize the Kingston Veterans Association to coordinate its efforts in support of President Nixon and the fighting forces in Vietnam.

This effort has resulted in the distribution of several thousand pieces of Americanism literature, flag decals and American Flag lapel pins throughout all shopping centers and business areas in the Kingston area.

Makes Promise, Avoids Fine

ROME, N.Y. (UPI) —Kenneth W. West, 17, avoided a $25 fine Wednesday by promising to take an American flag off the back of his jacket.

Judge Joseph Serino agreed not to impose the fine for allegedly defiling the flag as long as West keeps the 10 by 17 inch flag off his clothes.

It was the second time in recent weeks that authorities here have prosecuted a teenager for wearing a flag on his jacket.

Randy L. Case of Sylvan Beach was fined $25 after pleading guilty to the same charge three weeks ago.

GOP-Conservatives List Candidates in Rosendale

ROSENDALE, N.Y. (AP) — The post of mayor and Arthur F. Mulligan for trustee. Rosendale Republican-Conservatives have announced their candidates for the March 17 election for mayor and trustee of the Village of Rosendale. They are Carl Grassi, who seeks the post of mayor and Arthur F. Mulligan for trustee. A press release issued today stated that the two candidates have "fully endorsed a platform of the Village of Rosendale, based upon presenting and implementing sound fiscal principles. They have announced positive plans for broadening the tax base for the Village of Rosendale by attracting new people and new business into the village."

Grassi, a resident of Ulster County for the 16 years and the Village of Rosendale for 11 years, plays an active role in local activities. A past member and officer of the Rosendale Fire Department, he is currently president of the Ulster County Bowlers Association, director of the Kingston Bowling Association, first vice-president of the New York State Junior Bowling Association, member of the New York State School Boards Association and a member of the Rondout Valley Board of Education. He has been politically active in past campaigns and is currently serving as Conservative committeeman for the village of Rosendale. He is a graduate of the New York State Institute of Applied Arts and Sciences and since 1954 has been employed locally by a large industrial firm. He is married and the father of three children.

Mulligan is well known for his achievements and interest in the Village of Rosendale, having served as mayor of the Village of Rosendale for two years and as trustee for three years. He is a capable and experienced public servant. Married and the father of three children, Mulligan is the successful owner and administrator of Arthur F. Mulligan, Inc. In addition, he is currently a member of the Ulster County Airport Commission and a lifetime member of Active Hose I, Rosendale Fire Department. Mulligan holds the rank of colonel in the active United States Air Force Reserve.

ACCEPTS PLAQUE — Anthony R. Triulzi (L), administrator at Kingston Hospital is presented a plaque by Daniel Fochi, squad leader of the West Hurley Rescue Squad in recognition of the hospital's excellent cooperation in affording facilities for the squad training program. Fochi also praised the hospital administration and staff for assistance in the program and for its efforts in connection with all hospital-oriented endeavors undertaken by the squad. Trustee Hopeful Lists Goals

ROSENDALE, N.Y. — Robert J. Sheehan, candidate for the two-year trusteeship in the Village of Rosendale, spoke before a group of voters and presented some of the goals he hopes to achieve if he is elected. Sheehan stated that he is primarily interested in the full development of the new village water supply and property.

There is also a pressing need for recreation areas and facilities, not only for the youth but for the entire Rosendale community. Sheehan pointed out. The candidate for trustee also indicated that he would work for a more harmonious relationship between the town and village governments.

Sheehan is a former superintendent of the water department and is a candidate on the Peoples Party ticket, a petition by independent voters and voters of both major parties. He also has the nomination and endorsement of the Democratic Party.

Sheehan is a resident of the James Street area of Rosendale and is a self-employed distributor for Continental Bakeries.

St. Patrick's Night at Veteran Parish

The "Night of St. Patrick" will be celebrated in traditional Irish fashion at St. John the Evangelist Parish, Route 212, Veteran, Town of Saugerties, March 17.

A corned beef and cabbage buffet will start the festivities.

Drug Addiction Will Be Topic Of Home Unit

The Panhandlers, Home Extension Unit of Saugerties will present a program of drug addiction for the public on Sunday, April 5, at 2 p.m., at the Roger Donlon Auditorium.

Members of the Renaissance Family from Ellenville will speak about their experiences with drugs. After the formal program, these former drug addicts will answer questions from the audience.

Renaissance is a "self-help" program established to rehabilitate drug addicts. This group, also, aims to help communities, groups and individuals be aware of the problems of drug addiction.

All interested groups and individuals are urged to attend this program on one of the most urgent problems of the day, drug addiction.

Morse School Assembly Marks Patriotic Event

A patriotic assembly program was presented recently by the third grade class of Miss Nancy Kay, Grant D. Morse School.

All students participated in the depiction of scenes from the lives of Abraham Lincoln, George Washington and Betsy Ross.

Introducing each scene were Ellen Essig, Julie Parisi and Frank Antalek. Major parts were played by Douglas Keasler as Lincoln, Sean Gilpin as Washington and Linda Sickler as Betsy Ross.

Students who took part in the scene about Lincoln were: Joseph Aiello, Carol Drechsler, Monica Gaebel, Rachel Mercer, Kirk Nethaway, Debra Oatboat, Brandon Parsons, Venus Taylor and Terry Valk.

In the final scene, the skit about Washington and Betsy Ross, the following students appeared: Donna Bruyn, Ann Marie Bitterman, Daniel Brady, Catherine Burton, Betty Ford, Donna Goffredo, Joseph Hommel, Lori Myer, Warren Overbaugh, Brenda Schoonmaker, Judy Vertetis and Colin Watrous.

Included in the program were two musical numbers directed by Mrs. Daniel Wurzel.

Morse School's Assembly Theme

"TV Time" was the theme of the assembly program recently presented at the Grant D. Morse School by the sixth grade class of Mrs. Dolores LaChance.

Information, education, and entertainment were the aspects of TV communication portrayed by the class with a panel discussion, commercials, weather report and patriotic play. Our Freedoms.

Panel members discussed the question, "Should the U.S. government spend more money on oceanography or space exploration?" At the end of the assembly program, ballots were distributed to the audience. Students, teachers and parents voted on the question, and oceanography was chosen by the majority.

Susan Vavilovic, the class meteorologist, used the overhead projector and U.S. map transparency to present an entertaining, rather than realistic weather report.

The commercials included the Frito Bandito enactment during which the class sang the accompaniment. Smoking is a Real Killer, was another message presented by the boys to warn against smoking. An advertisement for sugar and honey cereals was given when the girls holding cereal boxes, danced to the tune, Sugar Sugar. Jeffrey LaVigne and Kyle Kurlach accompanied on the guitar.

Our Freedoms, a patriotic play, began with a classroom scene discussion of what freedom meant to each of the students. The Spirit of 1776, played by Elizabeth Reimiller, entered to help the class find out how freedom grew in America.

Mrs. Dennis Wurzel accompanied the musical selections.

Aid Squad Speaker

Kevin Dougherty, director of the Wawarsing Educational Center, was guest speaker at a recent training session of the Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad.

A former drug addict who is associated with the Renaissance movement, he gave insight into the lives of those addicted to certain types of drugs, stressing his strong desire to help others.

SAUGERTIES with servings from 6:30 to 8:30, between the dancing and singing, there will be a fine program of entertainment, featuring The Frank Vigna Orchestra playing for dancing, and, in singing group from Mount St. Gerry Ruddy, songs, plus a song and dance routine by the Alley Kats.

The Rev. Msgr. John J. Reardon, pastor of St. John the Evangelist Parish, extends an invitation to parishioners and friends to join in the annual "Night of St. Patrick" celebration for the benefit of the Parish Building Fund.

Makeup Taught for Handcraft Club

Members of the Handcraft Club enjoyed a covered dish luncheon followed by a demonstration of the art of makeup at a recent meeting.

The committee in charge of arrangements was Mrs. Marian Thornton, Mrs. Elsie Thornton, Mrs. Helen McDonough, and Mrs. Florence Myers. Program chairman, Mrs. Marian Thornton introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Ruth Overbaugh of Catskill, who showed the correct application of makeup to achieve the natural look.

At the business meeting several committees gave reports. Mrs. Alecia Axtel read the following slate of officers for 1970-1971: Chairman, Mrs. Eleanor Rothe; co-chairman, Mrs. Marilyn Walker; secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Fiero; and treasurer, Mrs. Clara Genthner. Mrs. Ella Whitaker reported that 10 ladies had attended her class on yardstick holders and sewing ribbons. She also stated that she and Mrs. Pearl Christianna had attended the recent leader training course on creative stitchery. They will instruct a class on Tuesday, April 7, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The chairman announced that an invitation had been received from the Sawyer Homemakers' Club to a program on "The Change of Life," Thursday, March 19, at 8 p.m. at Dutch Arms Chapel, with Dr. Herbert Zacheo in charge.

At the April 3 meeting Mrs. Mary Young will present a program on Home Horticulture.

Money-TV Books Head Agenda

SAUGERTIES Money-TV Books was the topic of the meeting of the Panhandlers held recently at the home of Mrs. Frank Lawless.

Hostesses were Mrs. James Tone and Mrs. Robert Osterhoudt.

Mrs. Richard Kramer talked on Kids: Money-TV Books. There was also a demonstration on drying flowers by Mrs. Frank Lawless.

Also discussed was the forthcoming open forum at the Roger Donlon Auditorium, Sunday, April 5, with six guest speakers from Renaissance Family in Ellenville.

IRISH NIGHT ENTERTAINERS — The Waymakers, a singing group from Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary, Esopus, will perform at the annual Night of Saint Patrick dinner-dance at St. John the Evangelist Parish, Route 212, Veteran, Town of Saugerties on Tuesday, March 17. Campers Ready 3rd Show

NEW PALTZ — The Ulster County Chapters of the National Campers and Hikers Association recently held a coordinating meeting concerning the third annual Camp-O-Rama and Outdoor Living Show to be held at the Fair Grounds in New Paltz April 25 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., and April 26 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Bruce Ashton from New Paltz, chairman, together with Bob Weiss of Highland, vice-chairman for the event, announced that commercial exhibitor spaces will shortly be closed out. With all indications the Camp-O-Rama will be the largest recreational outdoor living show ever to be held, not only in Ulster County, but in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

NCHA is a non-profit, educational, volunteer organization, with a family membership of more than 54,000 families residing in the U.S. and Canada. The motto of the Ulster County Camp-O-Rama Committee is "Natural Resources; conserve them, or results you shall deserve them."

The exhibit area at the Fair Grounds will be open to the public without charge. Commercial camping equipment dealers will be on hand displaying their particular type of equipment available. Individual members of the National Campers and Hikers Association will be camped at the area for the weekend, demonstrating the advantages of outdoor recreational living.

Committees for the event are: Advertising; Wess Cross of High Falls, Camping Information; Gail Ashton of New Paltz, Commercial Exhibitors; Marge Belmore of Tillson, First Aid; Sawerkill Knights Chapter of Kingston, Fire Protection; Bruce Ashton, Parking and Security; and Bob and Pat Weiss, Publicity. Wess Cross and the refreshment stand will again be turned over to the Ulster County 4-H Clubs at the event. All proceeds from this portion of the event will be turned over to the County 4-H Clubs to be used for their projects.

Birds have developed powers of sight to a remarkable degree. Probably they surpass all other creatures in excellence of vision. Most birds can see clearly both at shorter and longer distances than man.

Kurland is on the staff of Ulster County Community College and possesses a wide range of knowledge in pool-related activities. Jordan reports that rapid progress is being made on the project, including the new bathhouse which is nearing completion. Pool memberships for the year have been filled. Hurley residents may submit names for the waiting list.

Now all your U.S. Savings Bonds pay higher interest.

Now it's official.

Now one of the safest investments in the world brings you new and higher returns.

Now your U.S. Savings Bonds pay the highest interest in history: a full 5 per cent when held to maturity of 5 years and 10 months. (4% the first year; 5.20% thereafter to maturity.) Previously, these Bonds earned you only 4 1/4% if you held them for seven years.

The new interest began June 1, 1969 So all of the Bonds you own, no matter when you bought them, have been collecting higher interest since that time.

Those Bonds are still replaced if lost, stolen or burned.

You can still buy them through Payroll Savings or the Bond-a-Month plan.

Regardless of your other investments, can you think of any easier, better, or safer way to build a nest egg for yourself?

It's nice to know that you are doing a little something for Uncle Sam, too. The $52 billion in U.S. Savings Bonds now outstanding in the hands of millions of Americans go a long way toward keeping your country financially strong.

There never was a better time to take stock in America.

There's a man at the place where you work who can start you on the Payroll Savings Plan right now.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.

With higher paying U.S. Savings Bonds.

Massa Acquires Property, Was Owned by Bob Steele

By WALTER S. CLARK
TOWN OF ULSTER
Property on Route 9W (North), opposite Shop-Rite, formerly owned by Bob Steele, decorated World War II hero, former professional wrestler and noted for his famous auctions for years, has been purchased by Gene R. Massa, former partner-owner of Aero Lake Airport in Port Ewen.

The transaction was consummated recently with Howard L. Fox, of O'Connor and Fox, realtors, closing the title. Edward T. Feeney was attorney for Massa in the transaction and Aaron E. Klein represented the seller.

After the closing, Fox, Massa and Town Supervisor Carmine Sabino toured the property which consists of 16 acres of land, five stores and a 13-apartment complex.

The rear of the site backs into a tract of land on which Leonard Adelstein of Monticello, developer, plans to build a project known as Mammoth Mall of Kingston. Present plans indicate that when the latter project is carried out, that area will be one of the outstanding business areas in the Hudson Valley.

Massa said he plans to continue the use of the property as it is with stores and apartments until the area is developed. He noted that in the near future a private swimming pool will be constructed and a spaghetti house will be built and operated as one of the many features planned.

Bob Steele retired, because of poor health, from active business in September, 1966, and subsequently he and his wife moved to Miami, Fla., where they purchased a home.

Steele had opened his auction business—considered one of the most unique in the area—in 1950 and with the aid of his wife and family maintained it for the convenience of shoppers from throughout the Hudson Valley-Catskill Mountain area. A former boxing referee and pro grappler, Steele spent five years in the Army during World War II and was discharged with the rank of captain. He was wounded three times in action.

Red Hook Dealer Gains Award From Oil Council

RED HOOK

Alvin Brooks, owner of Brooks' Service Station on North Broadway in this Dutchess County town, has been presented the Outstanding Dealer award for saving the lives of two children recently involved in a snowmobile accident.

The award was made at the Westchester Country Club in Rye, Westchester County by the New York State Petroleum Council.

In December, Brooks, his daughter and Town Justice Frank Martin and his son, were snowmobiling when both vehicles plunged through thin ice covering a 15-foot deep pond. Justice Martin drowned but Brooks was able to save his daughter, Viola, 13, and Frank Martin Jr., 13.

Brooks was cited by the Petroleum Council for "his courage while saving two lives."

Personal banking...a great idea that could be made even greater.

The idea of Savings Banks is a great one—personal banking.

Savings Banks specialize in—not business, but you.

They bring you a savings environment so strong that people who save in Savings Banks actually save more. And, right now people have over 11½ million savings accounts in New York State Savings Banks.

With a Savings Bank account you just can't lose. And at present interest-dividend rates, you double your money in less than 14 years before taxes.

Savings Banks offer savings-retirement plans, student loans, home mortgages, home improvement loans, low-cost life insurance... they even teach your youngsters how to save money.

Quite an idea, isn't it—personal banking. But we want to make it even better.

How? By offering you even more services, even more convenience. For example...

Savings Banks should be allowed to offer people more convenience by opening more branches.

Savings Banks should be allowed to offer customers easy bill-paying services.

Savings Banks should be allowed to offer customers personal loans.

And Savings Banks should be allowed to offer customers long-term guaranteed-interest accounts.

People come first at Savings Banks. As specialists in personal banking—as people banks—we look forward to serving you tomorrow even better than we do today.

Savings Banks are people banks.

Philharmonic to Extend Sustaining Fund Campaign

The sustaining fund campaign seeking to raise $75,000 for the support of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra will continue through the month of March, according to Philharmonic Society president, Harold D. Ross Jr.

The campaign, which began in Dutchess, Orange and Ulster counties February 1, has reached 40 per cent of its goal in the two-prong drive supervised by Philharmonic music director, Claude Montoux, and business manager Wilfred G. Springer.

A total of $29,885 has already been raised from residents and industry by volunteers in all three counties, Ross reported, noting that several fund-raising benefits are currently being scheduled throughout the region.

Ross praised the efforts of Springer's Phase One drive, aimed at industry and business, and congratulated the continuing enthusiastic work of Montoux's Phase Two volunteers, whose activities are being directed at the general population of the three-county area.

Some $16,930 — 48 per cent of the $35,000 county goal — has been pledged or contributed in Dutchess, with 69 per cent obtained by individual workers in the Phase Two group through door-to-door canvassing and special events.

Campaign volunteers in Ulster County have so far raised $7,480 and a total of $5,474 has been pledged in Orange County. Ulster and Orange sustaining fund campaign goals are both set at $20,000.

The intent of the regional campaign is to erase the Philharmonic Society's three-year backlog of accumulated deficit and enable the Philharmonic Orchestra to increase its scope of activities throughout the Hudson Valley.

St. Patrick's And Black Cat Dance Friday

Lefooters Western Style Square Dance Club will celebrate a special dance on Friday March 13, at 8:30 p.m. in the Hurley Reformed Church Hall just off Route 209. All club level dancers are invited.

This special dance in honor of Saint Patrick's Day will be celebrated by including refreshments planned by hospitality chairmen, Ed and Verna Stevens of Lake Katrine, decorations planned by decoration chairmen, Dave and Sylvia Van Etten of Kingston, and both round and square dances called by club caller Don Blair of Westfield, Mass. A quick peek back at last year's Saint Patrick's dance reveals a green rubber snake floating in the green punch and very ecumenical decorations that were eighty per cent green and twenty orange in keeping with contemporary ecumenical trends.

This Saint Patrick's dance will also have a Black Cat Dance to allow all eligible dancers to earn their Black Cat Badge. This badge is earned by dancers courageous enough to defy superstition and dance "one tip in a dark hall illuminated by only one candle on Friday the 13th." The lack of visibility insures plenty of chaos, calamity, and comedy. For those dancers who were either absent or too fearful previously, here's a chance to demonstrate courage by earning a Black Cat Badge on Friday.

UCBPW DINNER-MEETING — It was a St. Patrick's theme for Tuesday night's dinner-meeting of the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club, an affiliate of the National and International BPW Clubs Inc. Mrs. Margaret Dalton (R) served as program chairman for the evening. With her are (L-R) Mrs. Mary Fisher, first vice president and chairman of the program committee; and a guest, Mother Mary Gerald, principal of John Coleman High School. Entertainment was provided by three Coleman students: Cathy Brito, Marlene Rua and Virginia Cicale. The 15-year-old girls, all sophomores, performed as a trio singing the latest in folk tunes. They accompanied themselves on guitars. The April 14 meeting of the BPW will be election of new officers. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Sisterhood Social Activities

Sisterhood of Congregation Agudas Achim celebrated Purim Wednesday, March 11 with Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Klein serving refreshments in honor of their 45th wedding anniversary.

Rabbi Howard Gershon was holiday speaker. After the business meeting, and evening of games and awards was enjoyed.

Candy, cookies and other Passover goodies are available from Pinky Rudolph, Kingston. Proceeds will be used towards the fund-raising project for the Shul.

A few seats are left for the June 3 theatre party in New York. Those interested may contact Fay Selinger, Saugerties or Stella Suskind, Kingston.

It was announced that volunteers for secretarial work are needed at the Synagogue.

Broome Routs Suffolk in Inter-Regional

By JIM MASSA

POUGHKEEPSIE

Broome Tech, three point winners at home against Ulster County Community College early this season, completely demolished Suffolk County Community College in an inter-regional playoff, 71-47, at Dutchess Community College gym Wednesday night before 400 spectators.

The Hornets trailed the Lions at halftime 28-27. Broome hit on 64 per cent of its field goal attempts in the second half while holding Suffolk to just 22 per cent. Broome used a 2-3 zone defense throughout the ball game and Suffolk played man to man.

The well disciplined offense and superiority in ball handling of Tech's players were decisive factors in the victory. Time and time again Joe Garrity, the spark plug of the Hornets, set up offensive scoring with his superb passing. Garrity himself also hit the scoring column for 14 points and stole the ball at least half a dozen times.

Suffolk trailed the Hornets until John Canada tied the score at 21 on a three point play with 5:32 remaining in the first half. After an exchange of baskets, Suffolk took a five point lead 28-23 at the 2:20 mark. Broome refused to buckle as Ed

Searson (a replacement for Gerry Newby) was fouled and sank two free throws to make it 28-25 at 1:47.

The Lions brought the ball up court and under directions of Coach Tom Galaezzi went into a semi-freeze working the ball for just one good shot. However, George Fisher intercepted a pass and hit Don Verkey with a long duncourt fast break pass for an easy two points with seven seconds left, ending the first half 28-27.

With the momentum going its way the Hornets didn't let up at the outset of the second half. In the first three and one-half minutes Garrity scored two baskets, James Brody and Newby scored one basket each to give Broome 12 straight points in the ball game, eight at the outset of the second half and a 35-28 lead.

Suffolk never recovered from that outburst by the Hornets and saw Broome build the lead throughout the second half. It looked as if the Tech players had gone to school in the first half, as they seemed to have found out how to play the big boys from Suffolk. After getting out rebounded badly in the first half, the Hornets boxed out well and played them even on rebounding in the second half.

"We lost to a fine team and they certainly deserve the right to go to the National Junior College Championship in Hutchinson, Kansas," said a disappointed Suffolk Coach Tom Galaezzi.

"This was my first shower in 23 years," cried a delighted Hornet Coach Dick Baldwin. Baldwin was referring to the traditional bit of in the shower with your clothes on coach party thrown by the victorious players. "The boys did a fine job and I knew they could if we stayed with our game plan." "We stopper any outside threat with the hustle of Garrity and Brody." "When you hold a team to only six baskets for 20 minutes you've got to be doing something right (especially a team like Suffolk)."

George Fisher led the Broome scoring with 15 points as he hit on seven of nine field goal attempts for a phenomenal 78 per cent. Fisher added one free throw. Garrity and Brody each chipped in with 14 points and Newby added 10 points. Ed Searson, a replacement for Newby when he obtained his fourth foul, played a fine game under pressure getting eight points.

SIDEBARS: This was Baldwin's ninth regional championship and the Hornets have a 31-6 record this season giving Baldwin a lifetime record at Broome Tech of 507 wins and only 142 defeats. State U coach of New Paltz, Doug Sheppard, made some kind of offer to Broome's Ed Searson. Next year's regional tournament will be held at Orange Community College in Middletown.

Rockets Hike Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Threatened by a crowd atop the Western Division of the American Basketball Association, the Denver Rockets blasted their way to a one-game lead and opened up some room over the third place Washington Caps.

Denver, leading idle Dallas by only one-half game entering Wednesday's contest against the Caps, bombed the visitors 126-106 and sent them 2½ games back. The Rockets easy victory was sparked by rookie Julius Keyes' 27 points.

In other ABA games Indiana nipped Pittsburgh 122-120 in overtime and Los Angeles stopped New York 98-92.

In National Basketball Association play, Boston clubbed Cincinnati 144-127, Atlanta outlasted San Diego 122-121 and San Francisco outlasted Baltimore 115-112 in double overtime.

Bob Netolicky's hook shot with 17 seconds remaining in overtime gave the Eastern Division leading Pacers their victory. Netolicky finished with 33 points while teammate Roger Brown chipped in with 28 points. Johnson sent the game into overtime at 107-107 with a basket.

George Stone dropped in 14 of his 23 points in a last period surge, leading the Stars over the Nets, who dropped 2½ games behind Carolina and Kentucky in their bid for the second spot in the East. Levern Tart led the Nets with 33 points.

League's Stanley Cup playoffs for the first time in 22 years, gained an important 5-3 victory over the New York Rangers Wednesday night but in the process they suffered another major injury.

Defenseman Serge Savard, last year's winner of the Con Smythe Trophy as the best player in the playoffs, suffered a double fracture of his left leg and will be lost for the remainder of the season.

"We get John Ferguson back from a major injury and now this happens to Savard," lamented Montreal coach Claude Ruel. "It's been like that for us all season, one injury after another."

Montreal's triumph over the Rangers enabled the fifth place Canadiens to remain within three points of both Chicago and Detroit, who are tied for third place, and moved the defending Stanley Cup champions to within five points of the slumping New Yorkers who extended their winless streak to seven games. Montreal got goals from five different players in snapping its four game losing streak.

The Canadiens gained ground on both Chicago and first place Boston as the Hawks and Bruins battled to a scoreless deadlock. Detroit tightened up the East Division race even more by beating Toronto, 3-1, while Pittsburgh tied Oakland, 2-2 and St. Louis bombed Minnesota, 9-1, in other games. Chicago goalie Tony Esposito notched his 12th shutout, only one short of the league record, as the Bruins, leading the East by four points, were foiled on all 24 of their shots. Chicago got off 32 shots but Bruin goalie Eddie Johnson was equal to the task.

Allen Ends Holdout With Cards

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer

Richie Allen missed the deadline and Joe Hague is making the most of the opportunity.

Allen, the St. Louis Cardinals newly acquired slugger failed to arrive Wednesday at St. Petersburg, Fla., for a 10 a.m. deadline set up by the Cardinals brass. However, Allen, in Philadelphia, agreed to terms late Wednesday for a reported $85,000 and said he would report to training today.

"We ain't gonna give in," said St. Louis owner Gussie Busch earlier in the day of Allen's request for a $125,000 contract. Allen, who clouted 32 homers and batted .288 for the Philadelphia Phils last year, reportedly earned $70,000-80,000 last year. "He's going to play at our figure or he's not going to play for the Cardinals," Busch said.

Meanwhile, Hague, who figured to battle Allen for the first base job, cracked a home run and added a single in the Cards' 4-3 victory Wednesday over Detroit.

Hague, a slugging left-handed hitter, batted .332 with 16 homers for Tulsa of the Texas League. Dal Maxvill also had a two-run single for the Cards while Don Wert slammed a homerun homer and Mike Epstein a solo shot for the undefeated Senators. The Twins, 0-5, had homers by Cesar Tovar and Jim Nettles and a pair by Tony Oliva.

Rick Monday cracked a three-run blast and Oakland snapped a four-game losing string with an 8-3 triumph over California. Tom Reynolds and Randy Duncan also had a round-tripper for the A's while Rick Reichardt connected for the Angels.

The Baltimore Orioles swept to a 12-0 thriller over the Chicago White Sox on the slugging game, featuring 38 hits, 21 by Paul Blair, who cracked two 400-foot plus homers. Andy Etchebarren drilled a homer for the Orioles with Duane Josephson and Walt Williams rapping the homers for the Sox.

Willie Crawford's two-run ninth inning homer climaxed a four-run inning as the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Houston 15-14. Bill Sudakis also connected for the Dodgers while Andy Kosco had five hits for the winners.

Norm Miller and Doug Rader Cubs their 5-4 victory over Seattle.

The New York Mets rolled to a 6-3 victory over Philadelphia with Al Weis leading the attack with two runs batted in. Byrron Browne slammed a two-run triple for the Phils.

Dock Ellis pitched shutout ball for five innings, scattering two hits, and Al Oliver socked a home run, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-2 triumph over Cincinnati.

The San Diego San Francisco game was called because of wet grounds.

Buster Narum Story

CHARLES J. TIANO

A dozen years and 13 teams later, Leslie (Buster) Narum is giving it "one more try."

Who's Buster Narum, you ask? If you were an authentic baseball buff, you wouldn't have to ask.

Buster Narum is a professional baseball pitcher who has been in and out of the major and minor leagues, since he launched his career with Bluefield, West Virginia, way back in 1959.

Narum and his wife, the former Mary Lou Ruff, currently reside on Plochmann Lane, one of the finer residential areas in Woodstock.

Mary Lou has been promoted to Assistant Professor, effective next September. Meanwhile, Narum is at the crossroads of his long career. And it's just co-incidental that he reports to the St. Louis Cardinals minor league complex in St. Petersburg this Friday (the 13th!).

GIVEN HIS OUTRIGHT release by the Washington organization at the end of the 1968 season, Narum caught on with the Cardinals. He reported to this same Cardinal camp in March, 1969, and was shipped to Tulsa, Oklahoma of the Texas League where he pitched under Hall of Famer Warren Spahn.

A starter most of his career, Narum reverted to relief pitching at Tulsa with good results.

"I developed a pretty good sinker and appeared in about 20 relief roles," says Narum. "I think I can still pitch, although I'll probably be working in relief again."

Narum admits he'll have to work "a little harder" if he ever expects another shot in the big show.

A native of Philadelphia, Narum was raised in Clearwater, Florida where he was All-State in baseball and played varsity baseball and football for three years. He later pitched at Florida State and was signed by the Baltimore Oriole organization.

HE MADE STOPS at Bluefield, West Va.; Amarillo, Texas and Aberdeen, South Dakota during the 1959 season and was assigned to Appleton, Wisconsin, then part of the Three-I League in 1960.

"We had quite a wrecking crew at Appleton," Narum recalls, "ticking off names like Dean Chance, Boog Powell, Pete Ward and Bob Savarin. It is now history that Powell, Chance and Ward made it solidly in the bigs."

Narum won 15 games with Aberdeen, tops for his minor league career. "It wasn't too hard with that kind of batting support behind me," he chuckled.

BUSTER GOT HIS first shot in the majors with the Baltimore Orioles in 1963 after stopovers in Ardmore, Oklahoma in 1962 and Rochester in 1963.

"I only lasted a month with the Orioles and they sent me back to Rochester," he said. The official explanation was "no room" on the roster. He finished strongly at Rochester and the next spring found himself with the Washington Senators starting an uninterrupted three-year stint with the Nats.

Those three years represented the zenith of Narum's major league career. Gil Hodges was the manager, a man Narum respects as a "solid baseball man."

"Hodges wasn't very communicative, as I recall," says Narum. "But he had good rapport with the players. Nobody got too close to him, but he had everybody's respect."

Narum's best record with the Senators was 9 and 13. "Claude Osteen was our team leader with 19 wins that season and I thought I did pretty good."

WHEN IT CAME pruning time the next spring, Narum found himself on a boat to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League. During 1968-69, it was Hawaii-Washington-Chicago-Buffalo for the sturdy, soft spoken right hander. Then came his outright release by the Washington organization.

"I still felt I could pitch winning ball," Narum says, explaining his bid to the St. Louis Cardinals, after the Washington release. "I had a good spring training season and was assigned to Tulsa."

That's where the Buster Narum saga rests at the moment. This "just one more" stop could be his last one. Only an outstanding season with Tulsa could affect his future career. If he doesn't make it, he'll return to his home in Woodstock.

"I've been giving some thought to coaching and managing," he muses, "but I'll make up my mind on that later. Right now the most important thing is having a good year with Tulsa."

THE BIG LEAGUE dream still stirs Buster Narum, but he has been thinking beyond the baseball diamond. He has been boning up on real estate, took his exams, and that could be his new career.

"I think about coaching and managing sometimes," he says, "but I'll make a decision on that later."

Buster's "one more try" points to the fact that two other Kingston area men find themselves pretty much in the same situation. Mike Ferraro returns to Rochester, Buster's old home base. Ron Thomas heads for Florida this weekend to see what the Detroit Tigers have planned for him. If Ferraro doesn't have an outstanding season, he will have to abandon the major league dream he sampled so fleetingly at Yankee Stadium.

Ron Thomas needs a solid advancement in the Tiger chain otherwise he is in pretty much the same boat as Ferraro.

We wish all three the best.

KINGSTON

An overflow crowd of 2,000+ is expected Friday night at Elting gymnasium, on the campus of New Paltz State College, to view the championship clash in the A division of Section Nine basketball, between the Goldbacks of Newburgh Free Academy and Clarkstown High School, Rockland County champions.

Game time is 8 p.m. Other games in Section Nine are the B championships between Rondout Valley and Nyack and the C title go, featuring Highland Falls and Liberty. These two tilts will be played at Valley Central High School in Montgomery, starting with the C game at 7:30 p.m.

The D class confrontation of Jefferson-Youngsville and Livingston-Manor will be played at the Liberty High School court, starting 7:30.

The C-D championship will be played Saturday at the State College, starting at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and will be followed by the A-B clash at 8:30 p.m.

Due to the great interest generated by the NFA-Clarkstown game, the C class game was rescheduled for Valley Central and the D game was moved to Liberty.

Newburgh finished the regular season with a 17-1 record and an 8-9 mark in DUSO competition. The Goldbacks then stopped Spring Valley, 93-62, in the Class A first round tilt.

Only Loss to Linton

Coach Mickey Burkowski's squad's only loss during the season, came at the hands of Linton High, 87-81, before a sellout crowd in Schnectady. Linton has been rated the number one team in the state by a coaches' poll conducted by the Associated Press. Newburgh was rated tenth in the last poll, but many area basketball buffs felt that they should have been in the top five all season.

The Rockland County champs had a league mark of 16-0 and an overall record of 18-0. They defeated Kingston High, of the DUSO, 101-59, in the first round of tournament play. Clarkstown had been rated tenth by the AP most of the season, but then moved up to seventh place in the last ratings.

The Newburgh quintet combines one of the best man-for-man defenses in the state, allowing but 49.5 points per game, while scoring a total of 1591 points for an 88.3 per-game average.

Pittman Scores

Wade Pittman has been the leading scorer for the Goldbacks, amassing 297 points during the regular season for a 16.5 average. He is followed very closely by Larry Frazier with 287 points and 6-7 center Jim Rogers with 277 points.

These figures attest to the fact that Newburgh plays one of the finest "team games" in the area. Rogers has been the leading rebounder, with Pittman a close second.

It is generally felt, in most quarters, that these three boys, starters Pete Petrillo, George Buccini and sixth man, Norm Edwards, will make the first and second teams of the ALL-DUSO selections.

Clarkstown, coached by Ed McGrath, has one of the State's biggest back lines, headed by 6-7 center Gary Custick, a 23-point scorer, 6-5 forward Bob Mathis, the team's leading rebounder with 18 caroms per game and 6-4 forward Steve Hooper, a defensive specialist.

Back-Court operators Bob Fitzpatrick, 5-11 and Howie Scheer, 6-1 and the team's second leading scorer, provide Clarkstown with good, all-around floor play.

If this game isn't the "barn burner" variety, there will be a lot of surprised patrons.

Ganders Ready

Rondout's Ganders will again be pinning their hopes on "Pistol Pete" Koola, one of the finest all-around performers seen this season. Koola has been the driving force in Rondout's championship run in the Ulster County Athletic League.

A sure bet for ALL-UCAL honors and possible winner of the County's Most Valuable Player designation, Koola hit 37 points three times this season, tying his own record at Rondout. His last 37 point performance came against a tough Highland club in a playoff game for the UCAL title.

With his team seeded into the second round of the B class sectional, Koola hit 26 markers, including two from the foul line with four seconds on the clock to give his team a 45-43 win over Nannet in the now-famous "Phantom Point" game.

The rest of the Gander starters, including George Walsh, Larry Baney, Bruce Barr and Ken Brush, were outstanding during the regular season.

Baney showed some of the spark that has made him one of the most feared rebounders in the UCAL. In the late going of the past two tilts with Highland and Nannet, however it has been the play of Koola that has dominated the action thus far.

Rondout's chief opposition will come from Jim Mack and Tom Williams. Mack hit 29 against Port Jervis, while Williams hit 19.

College Basketball's 'Big Four' Are Favored in NCAA Openers

By United Press International

Form and logic dictate St. Bonaventure, Kentucky, New Mexico State and UCLA will advance to the semifinals of the NCAA basketball tournament next week.

But the favorites must first get by regional qualifications which begin tonight and continue Saturday afternoon at four sites across the country.

Perhaps the toughest of the regionals this season is the Midwest at Columbus, Ohio, where top ranked Kentucky meets explosive Notre Dame and Big Ten Champion Iowa tangles with towering Jacksonville.

The Eastern regional at Columbia, S.C., pits third ranked St. Bonaventure against North Carolina State and Villanova against Niagara. Defending champion UCLA meets relatively unknown Long Beach State and Utah State battles Santa Clara in the Far West regional at Seattle while the Midwest regional at Lawrence, Kan., finds fourth ranked New Mexico State facing Kansas State and Drake taking on Houston.

Kentucky brings a 25-1 record into its game against Notre Dame and one of those 25 victories was a 102-10 decision over the Irish during the regular season. The Wildcats are led by All-America Dan Issel, their 6-foot-8 center who is averaging 33.7 points a game.

Notre Dame qualified for the regional by besting Ohio University, 112-82, last Saturday in a game that saw the Irish's Austin Carr, the nation's second leading scorer, set an NCAA tourney one game record of 62 points.

Stopping Notre Dame's runaway Carr would place Kentucky opposite the winner of the Iowa-Jacksonville clash which figures to match the Hawkeyes' quickness against the Dolphins' great height advantage. Iowa, which posted a 19-4 record, ranked seventh, while Jacksonville, rated fifth, features 7-2 Artis Gilmore and 7-0 Pembroke Burrows.

St. Bonaventure rests its hopes on Bob Lanier, its 6-11, 265-pound All-America while North Carolina State figures to use the same well-disciplined offense which carried it to a 42-39 double overtime upset of South Carolina in last week's finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament. In the Eastern regional opener, Villanova pits its well balanced attack, led by Howard Porter, against the offensive explosiveness of Niagara's little Calvin Murphy.

UCLA, minus Lew Alcindor for the first time in three years, will come up against one of the nation's best zone defenses when it plays Long Beach State which carries a 19 game winning streak into the contest. The Bruins, seeking their fourth straight NCAA crown and their sixth in the last seven years, are led by Sid Wicks, Henry Bibby and John Williams who each averaged 22 points a game, hopes its high scoring offense can overcome the muscular broncos of Santa Clara paced by Dennis Awtry and Ralph Ogden.

New Mexico State posted a 24-2 record during the regular season thanks to the scoring of Jimmy Collins (24.7) and the rebounding of Sam Lacey (15.4) and figures to prove too powerful for Kansas State which had a 19-7 mark but lost its last two games. Drake, led by Jeff Halliburton, posted a 21-6 mark while winning the Missouri Valley Conference while Houston, making its fifth NCAA tourney appearance in the last six years, was 25-3 and was led in scoring (24.7) and rebounding (11.7) by Ollie Taylor.

Having Friends In? Hire a Mountain

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

HIGHMOUNT Having friends in? Want to do something different in the way of entertaining your friends and business associates?

Rent a mountain and invite them in for a day of skiing. Sound crazy? Well, it isn't. That's what Mitch Cubberly has been doing for the past three years. And who is Mitch Cubberly? He is the inventor and manufacturer of the Cub-Co Safety Ski binding and maintains a home in Andes.

Cubberly has taken over Highmount Ski Center on the first Friday in March for the last three years. Normally, Highmount is closed on that day, when Cubberly is around it bristles with activity.

250 Persons Attend Early in the day a crowd of about 250 people start converging on Highmount for day of skiing and socializing. Among the guests are ski magazine editors, advertising representatives, Cub-Co dealers, business associates and just plain friends. Skiing starts at 10 a.m. for a two-hour stint and at 12:30 the crowd gathers in the lodge for a social hour and lunch. Then back to the slopes for more skiing until 4 p.m. A brief interlude of rest and dressing up and then a fantastic evening of fun, food and frolic.

Cubberly says that this is the most effortless way to entertain yet discovered by the business world. His guests, he says, find it most enjoyable. Wouldn't you?

Standard Race Sunday There will be a different type activity at Highmount Ski Center Sunday—the Highmount Standard Race.

The race is open to all skiers. Boys, girls, men and women will be classified in groups, according to age.

In a standard race, the youngest and oldest groups are given handicaps. Each skier has a chance to win the Highmount pin in either bronze, silver or gold, according to the elapsed racing time.

In addition, the Highmount trophy will be awarded for the best time of the day in the men's and women's divisions.

Blanche Davenport, the publicity director at Highmount, predicts a large turnout. "We expect the biggest and strongest field ever," she says. "The skiing still remains good."

Dear Abby

Don't Nag About Ring

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a husband who will NOT wear a wedding ring. We've been married for 10 months, and this is the only thing we ever had angry words about.

He wore his wedding ring on our honeymoon, but as soon as he got home, he took it off. First he said it was too tight. Then he said it made larger. Then he objects to as much as your made him "uncomfortable."

Why should a little ring make him uncomfortable? I would be uncomfortable WITHOUT mine.

He says he won't wear it to work, but he'll wear it to parties. Abby, that's the whole point. I'm WITH him at parties. It's when I'M NOT with him that I want him to wear it.

We really love each other, and I do trust him, but this bugs me. What should I do?

LONG BEACH WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Get off his back. It's probably not the ring he objects to as much as your insistence that he wear it. You say you trust him. So TRUST him! He KNOWS he's married, and if you continue to nag him about it your problem will be much bigger than a "little ring."

DEAR ABBY: I think I am too flat for my age. My measurements are 27-22-27. I am eleven years old and am 4 feet 9. I have friends who are not much taller than I am, and they are wearing a 30 AA cup bra.

I wish my mother would get me a bigger bra so I would look more like my girl friends. I asked her once, and she said she would get me a bigger bra when I need it, and not until.

Abby, I wouldn't want a bra that looked too padded for a girl my age, but don't you think just a little padding would look better?

FLAT AS A PANCAKE

DEAR FLAT: Be patient. And when you get a little older, if you are still conspicuously "flat," ask your mother to take you to a good lingerie shop, and let the authorities there be the judges and make recommendations. In other words, at the proper time, what nature has forgotten — stuff with cotton.

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago I married the most wonderful man this world will ever see. We had four wonderful children, and life for us could not have been better. Then cancer took him away, but not before he made sure that his family was provided for in every way.

When he first learned that he was not long for this world, he started looking around for his replacement. Yes, Abby, you heard me right. His replacement!

You see, he knew that no decent woman who had been married as long as I should be without male companionship, and he loved me enough not to leave me to the streets and bars and other places where lonely women go in search of men.

My sainted husband brought a very fine gentleman to our home, introduced us, and this man became like one of the family. He loved the children and they loved him. We all lived together for five months, then my dear husband died happy, knowing that his replacement and I were compatible in every way. Of course, the town gossips had a lot to say about this arrangement, but it didn't bother us. Our oldest (a girl, 16,) realized that a woman needs more than food and a roof over her head to make her happy.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

DROPPED: (Q.) This girl seemed real nice. The first few dates went all right. I was sure we loved each other. Then one night when I took her home she said we couldn't see each other any more.

Now she is with my best friend all the time. She used me to get him. I started asking questions and found out that she uses people. When she's through with them she drops them.

The way she looks at me, though, I believe she still likes me. How can I hurt her more than she hurt me?—Still hurting in Washington, D.C.

(A.) It would do you no good to hurt her, so don't try. And don't judge her or talk about her. Just leave her alone.

If she is indeed the type you think she is, she will eventually be hurt—badly. Because of that, I hope you are mistaken about her.

TAXI DATE: (Q.) I want to take a girl to a high-school social event. But I don't drive.

Do you think it would be all right with the girl and her parents for us to use a taxi or public transportation?—A Non-Driver in Chicago.

(A.) Yes. But let them know in advance. When you ask the girl, explain that you'll be going by taxi, or bus, or whatever.

If she says yes, suggest that she check with her mother to be sure she approves.

The girl and her mother will appreciate your caring enough to get this OK.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

Japanese Counsel General

New South American Kidnaping

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)—Nine youthful gunmen kidnaped Japan's consul general to Sao Paulo late Wednesday and were expected to offer to exchange him for all terrorists jailed since the kidnaping of U.S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick last September.

The Japanese consulate kept staffers on duty throughout the night in hopes of receiving a ransom note or exchange proposal from the men who forced Consul General Nobuo Okuchi from his limousine shortly after 6 p.m. and drove him away in another car.

Military sources said they expected Okuchi's kidnapers to threaten to kill him unless all guerrillas jailed since the Elbrick abduction are freed.

Okuchi was held for three days until Brazil released 14 political prisoners.

"Grave Concern" Okuchi's was the second abduction of a foreign envoy in South America in a week. An American diplomat, Sean Michael Holly, was kidnaped in Guatemala last Friday and freed Sunday in exchange for two jailed terrorists.

From Tokyo, Japan's foreign minister, Kiichi Aichi, expressed "grave concern" over the kidnaping of Okuchi, 52, and asked the Brazilian military government to make every effort to secure his release.

The military said the nine kidnapers forced Okuchi's chauffeur-driven limousine to a halt less than a block from his home and forced him at gunpoint into one of their three cars. The sources said the kidnapers, in sport shirts, appeared to be 18 to 25 years old.

The similarity of this kidnap with Elbrick's prompted authorities to suspect it was planned by Joaquim Camara Ferreira, the leader of the National Renovation Alliance, who was said to have engineered the Elbrick abduction.

Search Called The secret services of the three armed forces, plus federal and state were called into the search, convinced that the kidnapers had not taken the

White Woman Is Sought In Maryland Bombing

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (UPI)—Dorchester County Courthouse bombing—the second within 48 hours associated with the trial pending in Bel Air, Md., 85 miles north of here.

State's Attorney William C. Yates won a change of venue for the trial on grounds the proceedings would create tensions in Dorchester County, the population of which is 33 per cent Negro. Harford County, in which Bel Air is located, has an 8.6 per cent Negro population.

Defense attorneys object to the shift. Defense Lawyer William M. Kunstler urged a dismissal of the 1967 charges against Brown in view of the incidents, Ralph E. Featherstone and William Herman "Che" Payne, who were members of the Student National Coordinating Committee along with Brown, were killed late Monday night when a bomb ripped their car near Bel Air.

Brown has not been seen since the trial proceedings began Monday. Tuesday, they were recessed until next Monday. Kunstler said he had not talked to his client in 10 days.

Kunstler said Mrs. Brown might make a statement about her husband's disappearance from New York City at a news conference in Washington today. Brown left New York Sunday, presumably to go to Bel Air for the trial.

Mandel, said his office would submit emergency legislation to the general assembly today to Israel sent in another armored patrol and this was stopped, the broadcast said.

The second clash was reported in the Al-Jweida area west of the cease-fire line where a spokesman said Syrian forces wiped out another armored patrol, killing or wounding 10 Israeli troops. Damascus said the Syrians lost two men.

The Israeli announcement of the air strike said the planes which had been grounded by bad weather resumed their strikes with a 10-minute attack against military targets 16 miles west of the southern end of the canal.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Carswell's nomination will be brought up as soon as action is completed on voting rights legislation. The Senate is nearing a final vote on a bill extending the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Meantime, Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., told newsmen there is a good chance the Senate's top GOP leaders, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, and Robert Griffin of Michigan will change their minds and vote against Carswell.

Syrians and Israelis Clash In the Golan Heights Area

By United Press International Syrian troops clashed twice today with Israeli armored patrols in the occupied Golan Heights area and killed or wounded 25 Israelis, Damascus radio reported. At the other end of the warfront Israeli planes bombed Egyptian Suez Canal positions for the first time in six days.

Iraq increased the Arab pressure on Israel and Iraqi President Ahmed Hassan Al-Bakr pledged the Iraqi army will play a "decisive role" in the fight with Israel. Observers in Beirut believed Al-Bakr would send 20,000 more troops to the front opposite Israel.

Damascus radio said the first clash with an Israeli patrol of two armored vehicles came in the Bikaata area west of the cease-fire line and that the vehicles were destroyed and 15

Israelis "killed or wounded."

SEARCHING — Team of Israeli soldiers search Arab refugee, in Gaza City, Gaza Strip, after an Arab guerrilla grenade attack at Deir Al Balah refugee camp earlier. Eight were seriously wounded and many others less seriously wounded when guerrillas threw two hand grenades into a group of Arabs waiting transportation to work projects in Israel, in that attack. The Israeli government is reportedly considering transferring some 300,000 Arabs from Gaza Strip area in an effort to curb guerrilla terrorism. (UPI RADIOPHOTO).

Some Gains for Carswell Foes

WASHINGTON (AP) —With the Senate vote growing near, opponents of Judge Harrold Carswell's Supreme Court nomination say they have gained strength, but concede they have a long way to go to reach victory.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke says 37 senators have pledged to vote against confirming the Southern federal appeals judge, and "I expect that number to increase."

But, admitted the Massachusetts Republican and the Senate's only black member Wednesday, "I'm realistic. It's going to be tough."

Assistant Democratic Leader Edward M. Kennedy, agreed opposition to Carswell has picked up, but cautions there appears to be only a long shot chance of defeating President Nixon's second nominee to fill the high court seat vacated by Abe Fortas.

Brooke, taking the Nixon administration to task for what he called a "cold, calculated, political decision" to adopt a negative civil rights policy, said the White House appears to be following a Southern strategy by writing off the black vote. The appointment of Carswell is an example of that strategy, he said.

Opponents have attacked the civil rights record of the Tallahassee, Fla., federal judge and what they consider to be his lack of qualifications to hold a Supreme Court seat.

In proposing Wednesday that Chief Justice Warren E. Burger be invited to address a joint session of Congress each year on the problems facing federal courts, Kennedy said the controversy over Carswell "is a symbol of the general malaise that exists throughout our judicial system."

President Nixon attempted last year to fill the seat by naming Clement F. Haynsworth, a South Carolina federal judge. But the Senate rejected Haynsworth after he was charged with possible conflicts of interest.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Carswell's nomination will be brought up as soon as action is completed on voting rights legislation. The Senate is nearing a final vote on a bill extending the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Meantime, Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., told newsmen there is a good chance the Senate's top GOP leaders, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, and Robert Griffin of Michigan will change their minds and vote against Carswell.
